PANHANDLE OF TEXAS FIGHTS FLOOD AND ICE

Amarillo and Other Parts of District Isolated By Continuing Storm.

COMMUNICATIONS OUT

Short Wave Radio Used to Tell Plight of City; Major Flood Threatens.

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS — Amarillo and parts of the Texas Panhandle were isolated today by a storm which snapped communications lines, littering highways and streets with poles, wires and trees

Amarillo without power or water, sent and received its news through amateur radio stations operated by gasoline-driven generators.

No reports had been received from Borger and Pampa

Panhandle highways were strewn with trees, wires and poles which snapped like straws beneath a 5-inch coat of frozen mist.

In Central East Texas rains continued to send flood waters over thousands of acres of rich farming land.

Henry Wallace, vice president-elect was somewhere in rain-drenched East Texas enroute to Mexico for the presidential inauguration of Gen Avila Camacho Reports at Laredo said Wallace, who left Meridian, Miss. by auto Saturday, would not arrive at the border until tonight.

Use Short Wave Radio.

R. L Rolfe and Henry Nelson, operating amateur radio station W5DAM, transmitted Associated Press dispatches from Dallas to station W5CYX in the office of the Amarillo News Globe Reports that fires, started by broken power lines, were burning in several parts of Amarillo were denied by W5CYX.

The ice-bound area extended from Amarillo 25 miles south and east and northwest into Colorado and New Mexico

Clovis, N M, on the fringe of the sleet area, had only one telephone line out of town—to Roswell, N. M.

A major flood threatened in the lower Little River valley which drains most central Texas streams into the Brazos. The river was a half mile wide at Camero, Tex., where R. L. Batte, a planter, reported flood crests of the Lampasas and Leon rivers had not yet arrived. They were expected within 24 hours.

The rains, which blanketed virtually the entire state, ranged as high as 14 inches in some places over the week-end.

At least seven Texans were killed in traffic accidents.

COLD WAVE ENDING

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—A brief cold wave which caused the season's first heating of citrus groves apparently was ending today with a forecast of warmer weather.

Heaters were lighted in the Pomona valley yesterday when the temperature dipped to 27 degrees. Winds helped avert citrus damage.

Baby Abducted In Stolen Car; Both Quickly Recovered

CHILLICOTHE — (UP)— A nine-month-old baby was abducted in a stolen automobile early today near Chilo, O., but both auto and baby were recovered within three hours. Two persons were held by police. The car was recovered at Chillicothe.

The baby was Timothy K. Colley, Indianapolis, Ind. The child was en route with his mother Mrs Betty Colley, and two other persons to Ashland, Ky., when the car was stolen near Chilo

The first police radio bulletin of the missing car was flashed at 6:40 a. m.

At 7:30 a. m., the radio flashed: "Baby recovered, auto still missing."

Two hours later another police bulletin said:

"Stolen auto recovered at Chillicothe and suspected couple in custody."

PREDICTS FIGHT

Senator Johnson To Oppose Loans To Great Britain.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Hiram Johnson (R., Cal.) a noted isolationist and influential member of the senate, today served notice that "there will be one hell of a fight" in congress if any attempt is made to repeal the Johnson act to permit loans to Great Britain.

Faced with Johnson's ultimatum, high government officials immediately began exploring the possibility of giving the English war funds by purchasing British properties in Latin and South America.

The question of repealing the Johnson act came up after a statement by Lord Lothian, British ambassador, who declared on his return from a visit in England that British funds for purchase of war supplies in this country were dwindling.

KEEP 'EM HANDY

Overcoats'll Be Needed Unless Weatherman Misses Guess.

While Mansfield was enjoying a bright sun and almost tropic breezes today, the weatherman warned Mansfielders to keep their heavy coats handy by predicting possible snow flurries tonight

Average temperature during the past 18 hours was 35.2 nearly two degrees higher than the 33.7 average for the past 15 years Temperature at noon today was 38 degrees.

Nine Italian and Three German Merchantmen In Fleet Readying For Break.

RAIDER OFF WEST INDIES

War Brought Near American Neutrality Zone, British Freighter Shelled.

BULLETIN

TAMPICO, Mexico — (AP) — Three United States destroyers of the neutrality patrol were seen before dawn today two miles off Tampico harbor, and 12 German and Italian merchantmen which earlier made preparations as if to depart remained at anchor.

(By United Press)

TAMPICO, Mexico — Nine Italian and three German merchant ships were getting up steam today, apparently planning to make a break for the open sea to attempt to run the British blockade.

The German Ships made the attempt on Nov. 15 They just got out of Mexican territorial water when they encountered United States patrol vessels which they mistook for British warships In the excitement a fourth German vessel, the 4137-ton freighter Phrygia was scuttled by her crew.

The Italian vessels were the 9-442-ton Toscana, a passenger ship, and the tankers Fede 7884 tons; Americano, 7008 tons Vigor 6-511 tons, Genoano 6067 tons; Lucifero 4,000 tons Atlans 2005 tons and Spekio (not listed in Lloyds register).

The German ships were the Orinoco, 9660 tons the Rhein 6,031 tons and the Idarwald 5,033 tons.

The 2 ships, it was reported, had taken on ample fuel and provisions. The captains of two of the German ships returned last night to Tampico from Mexico City where they had given the German embassy reports on their fruitless effort to escape

It was reported here that the ships would not attempt to reach

LOST RACE, DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Clevelander, Defeated In Hot Campaign, Stricken.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Joseph E Chizek, 47, defeated Republican candidate for representative to congress in the 21st Ohio district, died late last night with a sudden heart attack.

He went through a strenuous campaign against Robert Crosser, Democratic incumbent, prior to the Nov. 5 election and apparently had been in good health.

He was an attorney and justice of the peace of suburban Newburg Heights. He was president of the Ohio Association of Justices of the Peace from 1931 to 1940.

Turkey Girds For Trouble

Shortly after German Ambassador Franz Von Papen (below) returned to Ankara from Berlin, Turkey declared martial law, as shown in map above, fearing trouble. However, the tension was lessened today when Berlin announced that Bulgaria would not be called on to sign up with the axis. Turkey had been fearful of what would develop if Bulgaria had allowed German troops to march through its territory to help the Italians in their ill-starred Greek campaign.

First Draftees Off to Camp Tomorrow Morning

Go to Columbus By Bus For Final Physical Tests, Receive Uniforms At Camp Knox, Ky.

While three Richland county youths took physical examinations today to determine whether they can get into the army, six young men who have already been certified made last minute preparations for leaving for Columbus tomorrow morning in the county's first group to report for training under the selective service law

The six youths, all volunteers, and possibly three others yet to be certified will leave the Mansfield bus terminal at 9:15 a m Tuesday, arriving in Columbus about two hours later

In Columbus they will be taken in army trucks to Ft. Hayes for a final rigid physical examination and inoculation against smallpox and typhoid fever.

Then they will go to Ft. Thomas, Ky., for their uniforms, equipment, and assignment to camp. They probably will go to Camp Shelby, Miss.

Before leaving Mansfield tomorrow the men will report at their draft board headquarters in the Memorial building, Richland Trust building, and courthouse for final instructions.

First to leave from draft district No 1 in Mansfield will be David H Roals 568 Highland President Expected To Confer With Lord Lothian.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS)— Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, conferred with President Roosevelt this afternoon.

WASHINGTON — (AP)— President Roosevelt returned to Washington today at the outset of a week which may bring added force to talk of granting financial aid to Great Britain.

Some time during the week, Mr. Roosevelt expects to confer with Lord Lothian, British ambassador to this country, who asserted on his return to the United States from London on Saturday that England was approaching the end of her financial resources.

The president has given no indication whether he would favor or disapprove the extension of loans to Britain, which must pay cash for purchases of war equipment in the United States

SEEKS TO BREAK BROTHER'S WILL

Man Who Got $1 To Housekeeper's $10,000 Sues.

COLUMBUS — (INS)— Arthur W. Baird, Cleveland, appealed to the state supreme court today to set aside the will of his brother, Lawrence W Baird Canton who left the bulk of his estate to his housekeeper, Catherine L. Marquis

The lower courts of Stark county refused to grant Baird's appeal. He claims that insufficient notice was given of the probation of the will which was dated in 1926 and left one dollar to him and $10,000 to the housekeeper.

"I suggest you ask either Mr LaGuardia or Mr Stimson about that but I wouldn't go to the trouble to ask either of them if I were you."

Wolves Start Expected Howl At State After 40-0 Defeat

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — A sweeping change in the football coaching personnel at Ohio State university was predicted today by sports writers of three Columbus newspapers in the wake of the Buckeye's 40 to 0 rout at the hands of the Michigan Wolverines Saturday in the final game of the season

The questions most thoroughly discussed by the sports writers as well as the fans were:

1 Is Francis Schmidt through as Ohio State's head football coach?

2. Is Ernie Godfrey through as Ohio State's line coach?

3. Is a complete re-organization of the Ohio State athletic department underway?

Robert E. Hooey, sports editor of the Ohio State Journal, said in his column:

"There will be a change Whether or its Schmidt or his assistants, or both is not known In fact, no official action has been taken and had Ohio State won Saturday, the victory would not have altered the situation, one that is very acute."

Lou Byer, sports editor of the Columbus Citizen in answer to the three pertinent questions, said:

"I don't know the answers to any of the three, except by hearsay. xxx but I can guess. And my guess would be that Francis Schmidt and Ernie Godfrey are out and a complete reorganization of the athletic department

SIX INJURED IN RICHLAND AREA TRAFFIC

Mansfield Automobile Figures In Three-Way Crash; Driver Unhurt.

TEN DIE IN STATE

One Hurt, Four Escape In Accident on Highway North of City.

Six persons were injured, three of them seriously, in traffic accidents in the Richland county area over the week-end, while at least 10 died of injuries in traffic mishaps in Ohio during the same period

Critically injured in a three-car accident on route 3 14 miles south of Wooster yesterday afternoon, were Doris Salgman, 20, of Cleveland Heights who suffered a fractured pelvic bone, William Miller 25 of Warren, cuts and bruises and possible concussion, and Mary Miller of Warren, cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries All were taken to Beeson hospital, Wooster, by passing motorists

Also injured in the same accident was William Ludwig, 20, of Chillicothe, taken to City hospital, Wooster, where he was treated for severe cuts and bruises.

Highway patrolmen at Mansfield sub-station said the accident happened when a car driven by Miller tried to pass three other vehicles on a grade as a car driven by Ludwig, coming from the opposite direction, attempted to slow down and skidded on the pavement.

Ludwig's automobile first struck a car driven by J. Howard Kelser, 27, of Mansfield, then collided head-on with Miller's vehicle. Kelser was uninjured, patrolmen said.

Hit by a car as he walked across Park avenue east near the subway early Sunday morning, Sherman Pittenger, 54 Superior street, was treated at General hospital for shoulder and head cuts and a

EMPTY PORT

British Claim Italians Take Fleet Out of Taranto.

LONDON — (AP) British naval sources said today the RAF's bombing of the Italian fleet in the harbor of Taranto had forced the Italian navy to withdraw the major portion of its fleet from the badly damaged port to an undisclosed place of greater safety.

The Italian fleet movement, the British said, was disclosed by photographs released for publication today. They were taken by British scouting planes making daylight flights.

British naval sources said the total strength in the whole of Taranto harbor, just at the instep of the Italian boot, at the time of the first attack Nov 11 was six battleships, ten cruisers, 27 destroyers and a large number of submarines. After the attack by British planes these sources said three battleships, eight cruisers and nine destroyers were left.

Germany Halts Drive to Sign Small Nations

Indicates Conclusion of Diplomatic Drive; Greeks Continue to Push Italians Back; British And Nazis Trade Air Blows.

(By United Press)

Axis plans for a grandiose "new order" in Europe pulled to a sharp and unexpected halt today, possibly because of the drubbing given to Italy in her attempt to invade Greece.

The procession of statellite states to Berlin suddenly ended and Nazi sources said the "current round" of diplomatic activity was over and that no more adherences to the tri-partite pact were to be expected "for the time being."

This caused sharp surprise in the Reich capital where it had been indicated that Bulgaria would sign on the dotted line by mid-week. Today, after first reporting that there would be a "short delay" in Bulgaria's signature, Nazi quarters emerged with a statement that Bulgaria was not expected to sign with the Axis.

Berlin offered no explanation of the change in plans but angrily denied that events in the Balkans such as the Greek advance into Albania and Turkey's bristling defense precautions, had affected the situation

Whatever the reason the parade of signatories to the Axis had halted with adherence of Hungary, Rumania and Slovakia—all states which already had been firmly fixed within the Axis sphere.

The only diplomatic arrival reported in Berlin was that of Dino Grandi Italian minister of justice and one-time Italian foreign minister and ambassador to Britain He was received by Adolf Hitler at the chancellory but the purpose of his visit was not revealed

RETURN: Nazi Planes Stage New Raid On Midland Bristol

(By United Press)

LONDON—German planes returned today to the vicinity of the same western British town which was attacked for many hours last night and early this morning

(German dispatches identified the town as Bristol.)

There was no immediate indication that the daylight raiders were attempting to re-bomb the town which they heavily assaulted a few hours earlier.

It was understood that the Germans hurled about 100 bombers against the western town, damaging a school, two churches, a theater, shops and an old people's home

The raiders flew in single file across England, presenting targets like moving ducks at a shooting gallery to anti-aircraft gunners who challenged them all the way. Two were shot down, one in the sea off Falmouth, another off the Isle of Wight.

The first raiders, early yesterday dropped flares and incendiary bombs, starting fires that marked the town for succeeding planes. The attack waned after midnight and the inhabitants were able to leave their shelters

(The principal town of the western Midlands, is the city of Birmingham, population 1,000,000, which, according to the Germans, was subjected to three tremendous aerial assaults last week.)

London also had two alarms and suffered some damage and a few casualties, ending the quietest week-end the city has had in three

BATTERING: British Attack Invasion Ports In New Fury

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Terrific British aerial attacks against new concentrations of troop transport vessels in German-held French ports have shattered Nazi preparations for a possible invasion of Britain or the R A F is reported in London today

Simultaneously, an official statement said that docks, oil refineries and other objectives at the great German seaport of Hamburg were among targets attacked by RAF bombers during the night

Destruction of the massed transports was accomplished, it was reported, by means of a terrific series of British air raids last night and during the two previous nights up and down the French coast

The London Daily Express splashing press of the RAF assaults stated

"An attempt to invade Eire and seize Irish naval bases is believed to have been smashed"

The paper pointed to Eire Prime Minister Eamon De Valeras affirmation that his country would never give up its naval ports to any outside power It added that the RAF apparently had smashed a "Nazi plot" to take over the strategic Irish coast bases

(Editor's note In a recent address to the house of commons, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill deplored Britain's inability to use Eire's ports and bases)

CHAPTER V.

The rest of the morning was like a nightmare. Miss Ross proved to be a cold-eyed individual who snapped orders at the girls in a nervous, shrill voice. Glory had never worked so hard in her life. Mending, basting, sewing on snaps, going over faulty seams. At noon she ordered a sandwich and a glass of milk in the commissary but she was too tired to eat. By midafternoon her head ached dully and her fingers were numb from their unaccustomed labor. But far better, thought Glory, to be like this than to be Mrs. Arthur Landis settled in a bungalow living a drab routine life where nothing exciting could possibly happen. At least now she was free!

At four o'clock Miss Ross called to her. "Miss Stevens, I want you to take this tweed jacket to set twelve. It's for Mona Greer."

Glory marveled that she should be entrusted with such a mission her first day at work. Her heart beat wildly as she walked from the room with the jacket over her arm.

When she arrived on set twelve they were not shooting. Mona Greer was pacing the floor. When she saw Glory she demanded furiously, "Where have you been anyway? We sent for this twenty minutes ago!"

So that was why Miss Ross had honored her with the errand? But Glory knew she must not show any resentment.

"I'm sorry, Miss Greer . . ."

"Well, you should be," snapped Mona, and her green eyes were glittering. "Here! Help me with it."

Glory held it out when Mona impatiently thrust her arm into the tweed sleeve she let out a scream of pain.

"It's pinned!" she raged "You little fool! Why would you leave a pin in there? Look at my arm!"

It was true that the pin had scratched her.

"I'm terribly sorry," murmured Glory in alarm. But Mona threw the jacket upon the floor and stamped on it. A dead silence hung over the set. All eyes were turned upon the actresss. Some curious, some amused.

"You'll pay for this! You'll lose your job!" Mona screamed

Glory had never seen any one in such a rage. She did not know what to do. It wasn't her fault, but that wouldn't matter to Mona.

A man with heavy-rimmed glasses approached Mona and attempted to put an arm about her but she shook it off. "But, see what I've done to my arm! It's sheer stupidity! I'll fix it so that she'll never get another job in this studio!"

The man looked bored. "Oh, for heaven's sake, Mona, it's only a scratch. Save the fireworks for the camera."

Glory decided to take her courage in both hands. After all, she had nothing to lose now.

"I had no idea there was a pin in the jacket, Miss Greer. I didn't repair it. I brought it here just as it was given to me I'd never even seen it before"

"So what?" shrieked Mona, kicking the jacket across the floor. "All right, there it is. Take it back to them. Go and pick it up! Pick it up, do you hear?"

Glory's blue eyes blazed; she faced the actress.

"Pick it up yourself!" she said, turned and walked out Tears were streaming down her face as she closed the door behind her and sank down on the steps trembling. This would happen to her!

* * *

Her first day at work—and her last. She would lose her job over this, and it was so unfair. She had tried to keep her temper but even if she had it wouldn't have made any difference. What a fool she had been to think she could argue with any one like Mona Greer.

"But she had no right to talk to me like that!" Glory sobbed.

Some one was coming out the door behind her and Glory rose to be out of the way trying to conceal her tearstained face.

It was the man Mona had called Max. "Tough luck, kid," he said, patting her on the shoulder. "It wasn't your fault."

Glory smiled at him through her tears. "Thanks."

She made her way back to the wardrobe department where it seemed the news had arrived ahead of her. Miss Ross said she was sorry but the office had telephoned that she was to receive a check for the full day's work. So Mona had meant what she said! Glory wished she might have seen Van to explain but he was not in sight and the door to his office was closed.

* * *

Wearily she took a bus back to the apartment where she found Scottie and Helen waiting for her, a pile of half-smoked cigarets between them.

"I've been fired," she said.

"So we've heard," Scottie grinned. "Well, you certainly lost that job in record time."

"Aren't you angry with me?" Glory asked in surprise.

"First tell me what happened.

Glory told them, adding, "Even Max said it wasn't my fault."

Helen and Scottie looked at each other. "Max who?" they asked in unison.

"I don't know," Glory answered "He was on the set with Mona "She called him Max. He followed me outside and told me he was sorry."

"Was he short? Did he wear rimmed glasses?"

"Yes and he was awfully nice"

"Awfully nice!" mimicked Scottie. "My child do you know who that was? It was Max Carroll one of the biggest directors in Hollywood."

"And," added Helen "he doesn't make a practice of drying little girl's tears and telling them to cheer up"

Glory's heart began to beat with hope as Scottie patted her on the head. "Come on, baby! You and Helen are going to get into your glad rags. We're going out—to celebrate!"

"But I don't have an evening dress," protested Glory.

"That's what you think," interposed Helen, pointing to a large box on the table. "Open it."

Glory drew out a dream of a white velvet dress embroidered with seed pearls and a tiny seed pearl cap to match.

"It's gorgeous!" she gasped. "Is it mine?"

"It's yours for tonight, anyway," Scottie grinned. "And this is only the beginning! The job in the wardrobe department has already served it's purpose. There's more than one way to kill a cat;"

Scottie was right. It was the beginning. The beginning of a new and thrilling life for Glory Stevens. Since the evening she had gone with Scottie and Helen to a famous night club, radiant and beautiful in her white velvet dress, the world of backstage Hollywood opened up like a magic carpet before her enchanted eyes. Scottie Weston hovered about her like a guardian angel. He told her what to say, how to look and where to go. Like a puppet, she smiled and nodded and learned to make the right answers without being too eager and to never, never forget a name!

She learned later that since the day at the studio when she had been fired, William Van Liningham, Sunset's chief designer, had shared Scottie's interest. Almost every week Van sent tissue wrapped gowns from the studio for Glory to wear. Most of them had been worn for a picture or discarded because they didn't photograph well, but it made no difference to Glory. They were all so beautiful. Night after night there were parties, night clubs, previews, hotels, cafes and Glory Stevens in blue chiffon, black velvet, white satin—eager, excited. She took her good luck as a matter of course. The clothes, Scottie, and Helen. Little did she dream that she was the one in a million to get a break. One out of the great army of the disillusioned. Hollywood held no pitfalls for Glory—yet!

She was impatient to have a screen test. But so far she had had no chance.

"Listen, baby," Scottie told her in disgust. "If you knew how lucky you are already, you wouldn't kick. Leave everything to me. I know what I'm doing."

Scottie and Helen were alternately amazed and amused at Glory's naive innocence concerning the picture industry. But she was a good pupil. When Scottie insisted that she attend dramatic school for a few months, she complied. Privately she told Helen that she was worried about money.

"Mine is almost gone. I don't know what I would have done if Van hadn't kept on lending me those evening gowns"

"Scottie is arranging for your tuition," Helen told her.

"But I can't let him do that," Glory said seriously.

"Forget it, honey! That's part of his business. When you are getting a salary, you'll pay him back—plus!"

And so life continued in a gay mad whirl by night, and days of long hard grind in school. Glory had been in Hollywood six weeks when she met Mark Spencer.

It was at one of the most popular night clubs. Glory was with Scottie and Helen. She was wearing one of Van's creations of crimson red velvet, made with long sleeves, and a low square neck. A perfect complement for the black hair and dead white skin.

"I feel," laughed Glory, "like a little girl with two maiden aunts."

Scottie regarded her with amusement. "We're protecting our investment."

"Right," agreed Helen. And we'll probably regret it. Because I have a feeling," she prophisied gloomily, "that you're going to run into trouble."

"Pooh," sniffed Glory happily. "I don't need any one's protection."

"That's what you think. What you don't know about Hollywood would fill an encyclopedia. And with your face, baby! Something's bound to happen."

"My face is my fortune," quoted Glory wickedly.

Helen grinned. "Okay! But someday you'll appreciate my advice."

"Our advice," interjected Scottie, and his smile warmed Glory's heart. What darlings they were! The best friends a girl ever had. In spite of what Helen had said, Glory could not regard Scottie's interest as purely that of an agent.

It was early for the night club. Most of the big names wouldn't appear until later in the evening But Scottie recognized a familiar face across the room.

"There's Mark Spencer," he said.

The name was unfamiliar to Glory.

"My lawyer," Scottie explained "He hates night clubs. I wonder what he's doing here"

"He's alone," remarked Glory, watching the handsome light-haired man across the room. He must be about thirty, she thought Tall, gray eyes distinguished looking There was a well-bred quality about Mark Spencer that set him apart

When the introductions were over Mark sat down beside Glory

"I see now," he said in his quiet compelling voice, "that you are trying to get into pictures?"

Oh yes!" the girl answered so seriously that they all laughed

"Mark," said Scottie "is against all women having careers in general and movie careers in particular"

Mark lit a cigaret. "My sister had the movie bug so I know the trouble it can cause. Dad made her give it up."

Glory smoothed her red velvet sleeve placidly. "Nothing can make me give it up. I want to be an actress more than anything else in the world."

"Reckless words," and Mark looked disapprovingly into her blue eyes.

Scottie summoned the waiter and ordered three highballs. Glory was not allowed to drink or smoke. Not that she wanted to particularly but sometimes she resented being treated like a child. Scottie and Helen smoked and drank constantly but they insisted it was "bad for one's health, bad for the nerves." Glory would need her strength.

"It's a good thing I like soft drinks," she told Mark.

"You've probably never had a drink in your life," he replied.

It was true. What an uncanny way Mark had of seeing through people. But then of course he was a lawyer. That was his business.

"Shall we dance?" Mark asked, smiling.

He was so tall that the top of Glory's head barely touched his chin. He made her feel like a little girl.

"Have you been in Hollywood long?" he was asking.

"Almost two months. Scottie and Helen have been wonderful to me"

"Scottie's a good egg. I've known him a long time."

"He's doing everything he can to help me."

"I'm going to help you too," Mark said, smiling down at her.

"But I thought you didn't approve of women having careers"

"I don't," Mark replied "I'm going to help you in a different way."

Glory lifted puzzled eyes to his. "Don't talk now," he said. "Let's dance."

Back at the table, Helen toyed speculatively with her glass.

"Your friend seems interested," she told Scottie.

"Well, why not?" Scottie shrugged. "It will probably be that way with every man who meets her."

"Including you." It was a statement not a question.

"Sure." Scottie admitted honestly. "Including me. But no one stands a chance with Glory right now. What she wants is a career and I'm going to be the one to give it to her."

Helen smiled. "I was never so surprised in my life as that day in your office when you said you'd help her—after promising me you would send her home.

"My personal feelings had nothing to do with it," Scottie insisted. "I knew the minute I saw her that she was a natural."

"She makes you believe in things," Helen admitted.

"You're telling me?" Scottie's eyes followed the dancing couple. "You know, Helen, I've always gotten everything I wanted before."

"You can't win all the time," Helen said, kindly.

Scottie attempted to make his voice light, "Sure, I know! Let's have another drink!"

That night, back in the apartment, Helen said, "You know, Glory, Scottie's a grand person."

Glory was sitting in the tiny dressing room in her negligee brushing her hair. "I know he is, Helen. He's a darling"

"Well, that takes care of that," her friend replied.

"What on earth are you talking about?" Glory asked. "You know, Helen, I think this Mark Spencer is the most interesting man I've ever met."

"You aren't falling in love at this point, are you?"

Glory wiped the last trace of cold cream from her skin.

"Of course not! I just mean he's awfully nice, that's all. I want a career, not a husband."

She turned to the older woman eagerly, beautiful even without make-up. "My romance must be a great adventure, Helen! When I fall in love I'll have to be swept off my feet!"

Helen yawned. "Well, baby, for your own sake I hope you never find it. Nothing can come of love like that but heartbreak! It's the quiet everyday brand of love that counts."

But Glory was not interested. "My feet hurt," she complained.

After Helen had gone to her own apartment, Glory went to the window and looked out into the California night. Did fame really have a price—and love? Was Helen right or had she just been unfortunate? The air was filled with the fragrance of orange blossoms.

"As long as I live," Glory thought, "I'll never forget that smell."

NUPTIAL EVENTS HEAD SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Miss Evelyn Yuncker, Robert T. Dinkelaker Wed Saturday At Columbus; Silsby-Stollard Marriage Announced.

By FRANCES E. GENSLEY

THE holiday season is always marked by a variety of gay events, but the outstanding items on any social calendar are the weddings which take place from Thanksgiving through the new year. A quiet wedding of Saturday was read at 7:30 p. m. at the parsonage of the First English Lutheran church in Columbus by the Rev. Lewis Speaker for Miss Evelyn Lillian Yuncker and Robert T. Dinkelaker.

Miss Yuncker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Chandler, 642 West Fourth street, was attired in a soldier blue velveteen dress trimmed in gold. With her dress she wore gold and black accessories, a corsage of Talisman roses and pompons, and a pearl studded locket which has been worn by a succession of brides in the Dinkelaker family during the past 100 years.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Betty Jane Yuncker, who was attired in a black silk dress with a red and white polka dot collar and pockets and a corsage of red roses. Christian Dindelaker, jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride is a graduate of the Mansfield Senior high school and attended the Mansfield Business Training school and Denison university, Granville. She has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Mr. Dinkelaker, son of Mr and Mrs. Christian Dinkelaker, Columbus, was graduated from Columbus East high school and received his B. S. degree from Ohio State university. Until recently he has made his home at Baltimore, Md. where he has been employed as a chemical engineer for the Calvert Distilling company. He and Mrs. Dinkelaker will make their home in Louisville, Ky., where the bridegroom has been transferred. The couple is now on a wedding trip through the southern states.

A marriage of last summer was revealed this week-end to friends and relatives of the former Miss Betty Jane Stollard and Jack Richards Silsby, when the bridegroom's mother entertained with an afternoon party at her home, 74 Bowman street.

Miss Stollard, 99 Indiana avenue, daughter of C. W. Stollard, Galion, and Mr. Silsby were married Aug. 3 at Wellington. The Rev. Alonzo Green performed the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hoag, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, were the only attendants.

The bride was graduated from the Galion Senior high school, while Mr. Silsby attended Ohio Northern university at Ada and Ohio State university and is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. He is employed by the Western and Southern Insurance company here. Mr. and Mrs. Silsby are now at home at the Bowman street addres.

ENTERTAINS.

Miss Evelyn Zeller entertained members of the Klippley Klep club yesterday at her aunt's home, 110 South Adams street. Prizes were won by the Misses Helen Kemle, Nellie Gitnik, Anna Peters and Josephine Sherman. Miss Ruth Denis, Canton, was a guest. Thanksgiving appointments were used when refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Dec. 22 with Miss Peters.

Miss Mary Reed, Joseph Rachel To Wed Dec. 28

Friends of Miss Mary Margaret Reed of Crestline learned of her approaching marriage to Joseph John Rachel, 465 Dewey avenue, Saturday evening when the prospective bridegroom's sisters, Miss Irene Rachel and Mrs. George Bosko entertained at the Rachel home.

The couple will be married on Dec. 28 in the parsonage of St. Peter's catholic church. Mr. Rachel is the son of George Rachel.

Games were played by the 20 guests at Saturday evening's party, and prizes were won by Miss Cecilia Rachel, Miss Josephine Rachel, Mrs. John Rachel, and Mrs. Kenneth Long. Refreshments were served later at a long table, decorated with orange and blue appointments.

The bride-elect attended high school in Crestline and now is employed in Galion. Mr. Rachel attended St. Peter's high school, and is employed by the Tappan Stove company.

Members of Lodge Feted At Shower

Members of the Daughters of Scotland were the guests Saturday night at a personal shower party honoring Mrs. Wilson McLean and given by Mrs. William McCartney, 349 West Fourth street. Mrs. McCartney was presented with a surprise handkerchief shower in celebration of her birthday.

Guests included Mrs. John Anderson and her daughter, Cleveland. Refreshments were served, and the evening was spent in dancing. Plans were completed for the lodge public installation which will be held Saturday night at the Grotto hall. Dancing will follow the ceremonies.

MEET WEDNESDAY.

Members of the executive board of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club will meet Wednesday at 6 p. m. at the Evergreens for their regular session. Yesterday nine members and one guest of the club enjoyed a hike. After meeting at the courthouse they went to the Fernyak cabin Supper was served in the evening aroud the fireplace. Mrs. Rachel Shreffler was in charge.

HONORED.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sampsel, near Shelby, were honored Saturday night at a covered-dish dinner and miscellaneous shower given by members and friends of the Jolly club at the Sandy Hill school. Mrs. Sampsel is the former Miss Virginia Turner.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Entertains Guests At Birthday Party

Another of the week-end holiday parties was the birthday celebration for Dick Poffenbaugh at his home, 23 Vennum avenue, when he entertained a group of 14 young friends Friday afternoon. The guests pictured above in the first row left to right are John Park, John Robbins, the host, Carlos Garverick, Billy Endriss. Shown in the second row are Charles Vrbanac, Lloyd Murphy, Robert Troll, Billy Estep, John Marble, Jack Wheatley and Charles Gaff. Thanksgiving appointments were used when refreshments were served. Prizes in the games were won by Robert Troll, John Park, Charles Gaff, Billy Estep, John Robbins, Billy Endriss and Charles Vrbanac. The honoree is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Poffenbaugh.

Fete Miss Dillon At Afternoon Tea Given Yesterday

A tea honoring Miss Wilma Dillon was given yesterday afternoon at the Susie Janis home by Mrs. J. F. Foss and Mrs. H. P Weimer, mother and sister of Harold J. Foss, bridegroom-elect. There were 30 guests present for the affair including Mrs. Mabel Bird, New York City.

Miss Dillon was given a shower of miscellaneous gifts, and the hostesses presented her with a blanket. The tea table was decorated in fall shades of rust and gold and lighted by rust candles in crystal candelabra. Chrysanthemums were used throughout the rooms.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Melvin Miller and Miss Helerle Beer. The pre-nuptial events will be concluded Wednesday when Miss Dillon and Mr. Foss, who will be married Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, entertain with the rehearsal party at the home of Mrs. Weimer.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Gross entertained with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Dillon and Mr. Foss at their home, 11 Dunbilt court. The 16 guests present played games and contests during the evening, and prizes were won by the honored couple, Fred Haag and Clifford Odson.

A buffet luncheon was served later from a table, decorated with a wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal pair, and pink and white appointments. In addition to the shower gifts from the guests, Miss Dillon and Mr. Foss received a gift of furniture from the host and hostesses. Mr. Gross will be an usher at the couple's wedding, and Mrs. Gross will be the vocal soloist.

TO MEET THURSDAY.

Members of the Willing Workers society of the Little Washington church will meet Thursday for an all-day session with Mrs. Howard Stone. The members will quilt and do Red Cross work.

NAMES CHRISTMAS FOR COMING WEDDING

Miss Martha Jane Davey, Howard G. Moody Will Exchange Vows At Flushing, L. I. Mansfield Friends Told Following Party.

MRS. JOHN DAVEY, 125 Brinkerhoff avenue, has announced the approaching marriage of her daughter, Martha Jane, to Howard G. Moody of Derry, N. H. Friends of Miss Davey, who now is employed in New York City, learned the wedding date at a party given last week by the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Herbert C. Endly, in Bayside, L. I.

The wedding will be solemnized on Dec. 25 at St. John's Episcopal church in Flushing, L. I. Mr. Moody is the son of Mrs. Howard Moody.

The announcement party was a dessert-bridge, and the dessert course was served from a buffet table, attractively decorated with two yellow tapers, placed on either side of a large colonial bouquet of yellow flowers tied with cerise and yellow ribbons. Grouped around this centerpiece were miniature bouquets of yellow and cerise flowers for each of the guests. A small parchment scroll tied with white satin streamers was attached to one of the nosegays, revealing the date of the coming marriage.

Miss Davey was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and Harcum Junior college at Bryn Mawr, Pa. She now is employed by the Dennison company on Fifth avenue in New York City.

For Cocktails

Tea dancing or cocktails, informal dinner or bridge—a pastel wool dress such as this goes everywhere. Pearl and gold trim.

Honor Mr. Beery At Birthday Party

M. J. Beery, North Weldon avenue, was honored Saturday with a party in celebration of his 71st birthday. The affair was given by representatives of 11 labor unions in the city at the Liederkranz hall.

Menno Steiner, of the Chicago Civic Opera company, was a guest, and he sang five vocal solos during the evening. Josephine Capadonna played several accordion selections, and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Refreshments were served at a late hour, and Mr. Beery received many gifts. The honored guest was born in Shelby county near Sidney, on Nov. 21, 1869.

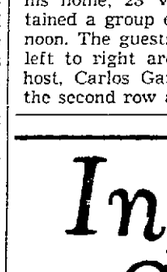
Informally Speaking...

Nov. 25, 1940.

Lucy, dear:

IT HARDLY seems possible that Christmas is just a month away, does it? For the first time in many years, I've decided to carry out a resolution to do my Christmas shopping early, and already I've purchased five gifts, so I feel pretty proud right now.



Marianne

* * * * *

But to turn from Christmas to news of the day, I know you'll be sorry to hear that you missed seeing some former Mansfielders who were in town over the week-end. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gowing were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Burleson. . . . They came down from Chicago, Ill., where Mr. Gowing is employed by the Ohio Brass company. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phillian were here from Findlay, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Moran.

* * * * *

Yesterday was indeed an exciting day for Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sullens. . . . It all began about 1 o'clock when they received a telegram from their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs Pearis Hasse, saying that they were flying down from Cleveland and would arrive at the airport at 1:30 o'clock. . . . They did, too—making the trip in 45 minutes. . . . Then after an afternoon's visit, the Hasses piloted their plane back to Cleveland—probably in time for dinner.

* * * * *

Josephine Hughes cut short her Thanksgiving vacation here with her mother, Mrs. George H. Hughes, and sister, Mary Olive, in order to take the Jim Langhurst special train back to Columbus for the Ohio State-Michigan game Saturday. . . . She'll be back home again at Christmas, and in the meantime, she's busy with duties as a pledge of Delta Delta Delta sorority and activities in the Strollers dramatic society.

* * * * *

AND speaking of Columbus, Fred Morey (son of Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Morey) and Robert Given (whose parents are Mr. and Mrs Donald Given) have been in that city this past week as delegates of the Presbyterian church to the Youths Conference.

* * * * *

Betty Hammel and Eleanor Clingan probably had just about the most exciting Thanksgiving vacation of any one in town. . . . They boarded The Trailblazer for New York City Wednesday evening, and didn't return home until early this morning—in time for their regular work in the office at the Westinghouse. . . . Another returning vacationer is Mrs. I. M. Palmer, who arrived home last evening following a two weeks' visit in South Bend, Ind. and Toledo. . . . Mr.and Mrs. J. A. Parker are back home, after having spent the Thanksgiving holiday and week-end with their son, Jack, at Culver Military academy in Culver, Ind.

* * * * *

MRS. M. EDITH EBY had a pleasant surprise the other day, when her daughter, Mrs. Robert Springer called her long distance from Gulfport, Miss. . . . She and her young son have been down there for a month now, as their husband and father, Captain Robert Springer, is stationed at Camp Shelby with the 134th Field Artillery. . . . Incidentally on a recent trip to Biloxi he was greeted by the mayor of the city, Louis Braun. . . . Oh yes, and if you'd like to write Mrs. Springer, her present address is Oakhurst, R. D. 1, Gulfport.

* * * * *

John Edward LaFevre has returned to Tri State college in Angola, Ind., after vacationing here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. LaFevre. . . . He's an aeronautical engineering student at the school. . . . Janet Kelly is in Oxford today, resuming her studies at Miami university. She spent Thanksgiving here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelly. She's a member of the freshman hockey team at the university, where she's majoring in physical education, is on the year book staff, and belongs to the Y. W. C. A.

'Chins Up' Keeps Neck Smooth

By MME QUI VIVE

It would seem that old meanie Time likes nothing better than to take a woman by the neck and give her a good shaking. The face stays youthful, the figure is slenderly rounded, the step light, the eye full of starshine. But the poor neck has given up the ghost. It has fiddle strings. Or there are necklace lines that have dug in. Life then is not all that it should be. With costume robes hanging onto the shoulders by mere threads or nothing at all, much cutaneous surface is revealed. It should be satin smooth without a single crease.

When such conditions are present, when the neck does not qualify for beauty honors, the one thought ever present must be "Chin up!" The lowered chin puts the neck and chest muscles on relief and they seem to like the lazy life. Soon they sag. Tissues that support the skin, giving it fullness and smoothness, go into a state of dissolution and the results are wrinkles galore. So remember, you who suffer from this beauty ill, "Chins up!" When you are in bed, waiting for the sand man to close your eyes, throw your head back, move it from side to side with a strong muscles pull. Do that same exercise half a dozen times a day. It will help.

Massage, correctly done, can prove most beneficial. Women haven't as much faith in it as they should have. If massage can put a withered arm in form, as it can, the crinkly neck is no great problem.

Get a heavy massage cream or, if you like, you can use cocoa-butter, which isn't so heavy a drain on the beauty overhead. After the face and neck washing at night, see that the skin surface is as dry as a bone; oils do not work well on a moist epidermal coat.

Throw the head back, start smoothing from the collar bones up to the chin, using flattened fingers. Keep extending the upward line outward until you are moving up toward the ears. Treat the sides of the neck and the back. Necks are seldom as white as faces, and the emollient will have a mild bleaching effect.

After the massage, which should continue for five or ten minutes, wring a small towel out of ice cold water, wrap it around the neck, cover with a dry towel and go to bed. Soon the flesh will be steaming hot, showing that the blood streams have received the order to get busy. In the morning use cold water, sponge with witch hazel.

Women who sew and type have the chin lowered much of the day, are inclined to get old-looking necks. They, especially, need to do head turning exercises to keep muscles and tissues from losing tone. With this beauty sorrow, as with many others, prevention is easier than cure.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

As I took down the receiver, Katherine's voice said: "Mrs. Ticer?" and my answer was explosive, tense with terrified anxiety.

"No, Madge. Is there any news?"

"Dicky is all right, she said, telling me without delay the thing she knew I wished most to know. "He just telephoned, wanted to talk to you, and when he heard you were at Ticer's, asked me to ask you to come home immediately, and be ready to start with him as soon as he gets here. He said he was on his way home."

"Is he hurt at all?"

"His voice didn't sound that way," she said. "He didn't give me time to ask him any questions, but he did say bitterly, 'I couldn't catch them.' But he's pretty well steamed up, and I'd lose no time in getting here, if I were you."

"I won't," I promised. "Please have Faith and the boys on the veranda when we start."

"I'll try," she answered, "but just now I must go back to Mother Graham. Joy is a bit too much for her. It delayed me two or three minutes before I could telephone you."

"Is she in any danger?"

"Not now," she said. "Goodbye," and I turned to my father, repeated Katherine's message, and added that I believed Mother Graham must have had one of her heart attacks because of the joyous relief at the news from her son, following her terrified anxiety for him.

My father rose immediately.

"We must go at once," he said, but I ventured a request.

"May I ask Mrs. Ticer a question or two about Marion?" I asked.

"Of course," he said, "but remember that Richard is hurrying home."

"I wonder," I hesitated.

"I understand," he said fondly. "You would rather question Mrs. Ticer by yourself. And I have an idea. I will go outside, so that Richard will see me if he should arrive before you have finished."

"Thank you so much," I said, and waited only until the door closed behind him before putting an eager question to my neighbor.

"Did Marion look ill?" I asked.

"She didn't look exactly sick," she said slowly, "though she was pretty white. But she was so different from the Marion I knew. In the first place it seemed as if she were years older, although of course she didn't look any older at all. But she was as nervous as a cat. And I really think she was actually afraid of that man. She was meek as Moses when he ordered her around, and she didn't look at me at all. I guess she was ashamed, and no wonder."

I felt that I must instantly remove from my neighbor's mind the impression of this adventure of Marion's which she evidently had.

"Mrs. Ticer," I said impressively, "I have had information which leads me to believe that Marion either is shielding someone else by her actions, or else has innocently fallen into the hands of this man who is holding some threat over her head, to keep her obedient to him. Now I want you to think very carefully. You know girls, and you have seen them when they were in love. Did you see anything in Marion's eyes or face or actions which would lead you to infer she was in love with this man?"

"I guess I was mistaken," she acknowledged finally, "and I'm mighty glad I was. I just took it for granted that Marion must be in love with him, or she would not be acting this way. But now that I think it over, I'm sure she was terribly afraid of him, but wasn't a bit in love with him."

"You can't tell how welcome that opinion is to me, Mrs. Ticer," and she wiped her eyes to which the tears had risen.

"I'm mighty fond of Marion," she said. "I hope nothing terrible will happen to her."

I echoed the wish as I bade her goodbye and went out to my father. But my heart was heavy with foreboding.

"No sign of Richard yet," my father said briskly. "Perhaps we can get back to the farm before him after all."

His hope was justified, but we had been back but a scant three minutes before Dicky's car came tearing up the driveway.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, November 26.

Energetic and persistent application to new and important projects is under definite impetus for success and progress, according to the strongly favoring planetary operations. This highly productive work may be in association with prominent and influential personages or with groups having rather advanced and ambitious objectives in relation to political, educational, social and humanitarian expansion.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of lively, productive, and gratifying experiences, with associations of a most profitable and ambitious nature with those of prestige and influence in both social business circles.

A child born on this day should be enterprising, hard working and have advanced and progressive ideas and ambitions.

Child Fusses At Adult Company

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—My young daughter aged 4 has me very upset.

"For some reason of other she objects violently to having adult company in the house. She behaves like a very bad mannered youngster when company arrives and I am nervous while folks are here. No doubt they think she is poorly brought up, but without company we get along nicely. She stands at my elbow the minute anyone arrives, refuses to speak to them, and proceeds to talk a blue streak while they are talking, with the result that I am a wreck when the afternoon is over. I send her from the room and she screeches so much that it ruins my afternoon. I try to explain after they go where she was wrong and she promises faithfully not to do it again, but the next time is usually worse, with the result that I simply dread having company."

My answer, in part: You have tried so hard to be considerate of that child when alone with you, and have so nearly been her sole companion, that she feels the guests who drop in are stealing away her rights when they have your attention. The problem can be solved only gradually.

Try to make her less dependent on you, attract playmates to your home. When Dad is home, let him look after her, read to her, answer her questions, do things with her.

When alone with her keep yourself too busy to amuse her for stretches of 20 or 30 minutes, and get her to look after herself. After the interval pause to give her a few minutes of your individual attention. If she cries, begs and strikes you during the busy period, assign her to sit doing nothing where you can see her for a definite period, say 20 minutes. If she leaves this place before the sentence ends, give her a more serious punishment.

When one adult informally drops in make clear to the child as she interrupts that you will listen to her later and don't make her wait too long. But if she persists use decisive punishment—no matter how much she cries. At the easy times you can best prepare for the harder times.

Call to the attention of the guest things your child has created or done (however crude) alone. Celebrate her successes at self-amusement.

A selected list of books on manners for parents, children and youths may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

"Celebrate Successes in the Child" is one of a series of 15 pamphlets I have written on the baby and young child, being simple presentations of my university lectures to pre-school parents.

Solving Parent Problems.

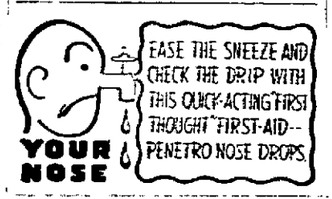
Q. Why will some tots who are easily managed when with the family alone, become very naughty before company?

A. While in the family alone, the tot may have all the attention he deserved, even far too much. When there are guests, his mother is busy being a hostess and can not pay so much attention to the child. Therefore, he may command attention by being naughty.

You might avoid such behavior in him by making sure he gets a reasonable amount of desirable attention while guests are present. Planning for the future, you might see that he does not receive an inordinate amount of attention normally in the family. If he mus be spanked or sentenced to sit in a chair while guests are present, let it be done in another room.

Q. Is it wise for parents to have the son or daughter working away from home or at college send their clothes home to be laundered?

A. Practically never. Let the child look after his own soiled clothes. If, however, the college student barely has enough to eat and spends the money he has wisely, there might be a legitimate exception.



BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

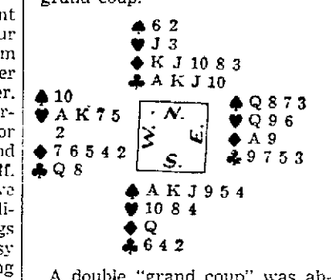
"The Authority on Authorities"

THE "GRAND COUP"

No play has a fancier name than the "grand coup." It is always a pretty thing, whenever executed, but is not nearly so difficult as some of the elaborate squeezes and lead-throwing end-plays. The times when it is absolutely necessary are sometimes quite easy to recognize, and the player who understands the mechanics of it can hardly fail then to employ it properly.

The "grand coup" is simply one form of "trump coup." The latter is used in a situation which shows one defender holding a trump honor with so many guards that the declarer cannot finesse through it often enough to catch it. If he plays normally, he will wind up being obliged to lead from his tenace to the opponent thereby giving the latter a trump trick. But if he shortens his trump holding by apparently unnecessary ruffing, the lead may be in the dummy on the crucial trick, so that the defender has to play before the declarer. If the cards ruffed in this process were normal winners, the play is called a "grand coup."



A double "grand coup" was absolutely necessary on this deal to make the 4-Spade contract by South, both opponents having bid hearts and East having doubled. When the declarer has to shorten his trumps with three ruffs of winners, which is extremely rare, the play is called a triple "grand coup."

Here West took two high hearts. East wanted to make dummy ruff, to protect his own trump holding, so gave a high-low signal. After dummy trumped the third heart, declarer finessed the spade J, dropping the 10 and marking the need of a double grand coup. Natural play would end with his leading trumps to East for the setting trick. He had to pare his own trumps to the same number as East, requiring two ruffs.

First he led his diamond Q, overplayed by the K, to East's A. The latter returned his diamond 9. Though the dummy could win this, South trumped with his 4. He led to the club J, then ruffed the diamond J with the 5. Next he led to the club K, cashed the club A and led the diamond 10. East now had only his three trumps, so the spade A, K, and 9 took the finishing tricks.

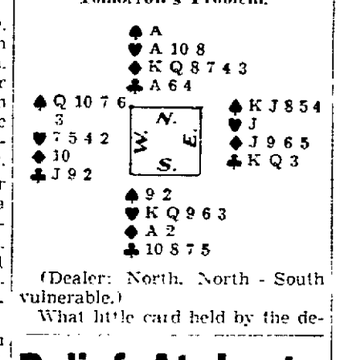
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

What little card held by the defenders makes it impossible for South to make 7-Hearts on this deal after a lead of the diamond 10?

Not Too Early for Fruit Cake

I think I will give you the Christmas fruit cake recipe which I have used for a number of years. I have given it to you before, but some of you may have lost the recipe and maybe we have some new readers who might like it. I have added to the original recipe and think I have it now as I want it. While we are assembling the fruit cake ingredients, preparing and mixing them, we will serve a menu that doesn't take much time to prepare. This fruit cake will keep indefinitely if properly cared for. I served the last of my last year's cake a short time ago.

Today's Menu.

Baked Fish Oven Fried Potatoes
Cabbage Salad Stewed Tomatoes
Apple Dumplings

Baked Fish.

Salt, pepper
Fish drippings
½ cup milk
2 tbsps. butter
½ cup milk

Clean and wash fish, dry with cheesecloth and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Grease baking pan with drippings, lay fish skin, side down in pan, pour over it melted butter and ½ cup milk. Bake in 375 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes, according to the size of fish. Remove to hot platter and sprinkle with chopped parsley if desired. Serve with lemon slices.

• • •

Apple Dumplings.

2 c. pastry flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
6 tbsp. shortening
1 egg yolk
¼ c. milk
Apples

Sift dry ingredients, add shortening and mix slightly with fork. Add egg yolk to milk and add both to dry ingredients to make soft dough. Roll one-half dough ¼-inch thick, cut into quarters. Fit each section into muffin pan, fill with peeled, quartered and sliced fruit, sweeten to taste, sprinkle apples with cinnamon and a dash of nutmeg, pinch edges of dough together on top. Repeat with remaining dough and bake in hot oven at 450 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 and bake 15 minutes longer. Any other fruit, cooked or raw, may be used instead of the apples, if you prefer. Serves 8.

Christmas Fruit Cake.

1 lb. butter
1 lb. brown sugar
10 eggs
1 c. sour milk or cider
2 lbs. raisins
2 lbs. currants
½ lb. candied citron peel
½ lb. candied lemon peel
½ lb. candied orange peel
1 lb. dates
1 lb. figs
1 lb. English walnuts (In shells)
1 tsp. allspice
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
½ c. black molasses
1 tsp. baking soda
Flour to make stiff dough (about 6 c.)

Put butter in to large mixing bowl or preserving kettle (if you haven't a mixing bowl large enough) and let stand at room temperature until somewhat softened for creaming. In the meantime prepare fruit and assemble all ingredients. Use 1 pound of seedless raisins and one of seeded raisins, cutting the latter in halves if you wish. Wash raisins and currants, picking the latter over to remove stalks, etc., and dry with towel. Cut all candied peels into small pieces or slices, cut stalks from figs and cut into small pieces, seed dates and cut up, crack nuts and break meats into smallish pieces. Sprinkle all fruits with part of flour. Cream softened butter, add sugar a little time, creaming well, then add molasses, then well beaten eggs. Sift flour once, then sift again with spices and soda. Add part of flour and spice mixture to first mixture, alternately mixing it with milk or cider until both are used, and last add fruits and nuts. Stir in well to mix all together evenly, and pour into well greased bread or loaf cake pans. Bake very slowly at about 250 degrees F. for 1 hour, then look at cakes and continue baking until all are a nice brown and a toothpick inserted in the middle come out dry. Put on rack to cool, and when cold they may be wrapped in pieces of old linen and kept in tin boxes until used. An apple in the box with the cake will help keep it moist, but is not necessary—at least I have not found it so. This amount makes 5 medium sized cakes.

Richland County Cage League Swings Into Action

Begin Picking Bowl Teams as Season Wanes

Four of Five Leading Contenders for Post Season Tilts to See Action This Week.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—This week the football season gets down to the semi-final or "you pick 'em" stage of selection for the various bowl games Jan. 1.

Barring unlikely upsets this week, leading Rose and Sugar bowl candidates are the five "major" teams still undefeated and untied—Boston college, Tennessee, Texas A. and M., Stanford and Minnesota.

Unbeaten Lafayette got all steamed up last night over an Orange bowl invitation only to hear it was just a "feeler" and that Fordham, Penn State, Boston college and other eastern teams are under consideration with Alabama and Mississippi State among the possible southern entries.

Prospects for a Big Ten-Pacific coast meeting between Stanford and Minnesota are looking brighter while Tennessee vs. Boston college appears as the most likely Sugar bowl lineup.

Minnesota finished its Western conference sweep by whipping Wisconsin 22-13. The Gophers' chances of going to Pasadena depend upon favorable action by the conference faculty members at their meeting Dec. 6-7. Stanford, idle last week, winds up Saturday against its ancient rival, California, and the Bowl invitation usually comes right after the final game.

Tennessee, victorious over Kentucky 33-0, still has to dispose of Vanderbilt Saturday, and Boston college, which walloped Auburn, 33-7, still has to pass Holy Cross.

The Texas Aggies also have to go through the formality of clinching their second straight Southwest conference championship when they meet Texas Thursday.

Lafayette finished its season by beating Lehigh 46-0; Hardin-Simmons, which plays little Howard Payne Friday, beat San Francisco university 28-18; Mississippi State helped clear Tennessee's path to the Southeastern conference title by beating Mississippi 19-0.

After Boston college-Holy Cross, the colorful, tradition-laden Army-Navy game at Philadelphia is this week's only game of national interest, with Fordham-New York university and Duquesne-Carnegie as added attractions. Pittsburgh knocked Penn State out of the unbeaten-tied class with a 20-7 trouncing.

Top honors in the informal "Ivy league" go to Pennsylvania, 22-20 conqueror of Cornell. Harvard furnished another surprise in its 28-0 victory over Yale.

Army took a 26-19 licking from Princeton while Holy Cross tuned up for Boston college by beating Manhattan 33-25.

Michigan, with 40-0 rout of Ohio State, and Northwestern, 20-0 winner over Notre Dame, followed close behind their conqueror, Minnesota, in Big Ten circles. Indiana and Iowa wound up in a six-way tie for fifth place after beating Purdue, 3-0, and Illinois, 18-7 respectively.

Nebraska, which has virtually clinched the Big Six title although it had a scare before beating Iowa State 21-12, may be another bowl candidate.

Barring an upset victory by Vanderbilt over Tennessee, interest in the Southeastern conference centers around the Alabama-Mississippi State tussle for second place.

The annual Duke-Pittsburgh intersectional tussle is the high spot of the Southern conference program now that Clemson has won the championship with its 13-7 victory over Furman.

* * *

The Texas Aggies can win the Southwest conference title by beating Texas but they can't lose it. Both Southern Methodist, 7-4 winner over Baylor, and Rice, 14-6 victor over Texas Christian, still have chances for a tie, depending on the outcome of their Dec. 7 game.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gentlemen, we're telling you. If there is a better football team in the country than Tennessee, we're willing to learn. If you'll press him, Major Neyland will tell you he has trouble distinguishing between his first and second teams. . . . (and, confidentially, the Vols prefer the Sugar Bowl) . . .

* * *

You'll see the Messrs. Francis Reagan and Paul Christman, those well-known footballers, cavorting on one of the Yankee farms next season—in baseball uniforms. . . . Another Wojciechowski (this one's Frank) has bobbed up at St. Benedict's college (Atchison, Kans.), to give the printers fits.

KENNEL CLUB.

Recent arrivals: Carl Snavely, Frank Thomas, Bill Alexander, Elmer Layden. . . . Boy, and is that doghouse full of football big shots!

SHORT, SHORT STORIES

The Chicago papers received Jimmy Wilson with wide open arms. . . . Who did we bump into in Kentucky last week but Joe Louis. What was he doing? Buying saddle horses for his dude ranch. . . . Warren C. Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has a new farm system idea that not only will attract a lot of attention but probably will be widely copied. . . . Paul Vandervoort, West Virginia Wesleyan basketball star, has his biography in "who's who of students in American colleges and universities."

SATURDAY'S HEROES

Well, Mister Harmon went to town
And so did Mister Reagan.
We only hope that we're around
When better bucks are made again.

THE COCKTAIL HOUR

Did you hear Bill Woods and "Swede" Larson play the Army-Navy game over the air last night? Pretty good. . . . All-America pickers who are looking for a center might give Tuffy Whitlow a look down at Rice a tumble. . . . Reform dept.: Boots Poffenberger (You all remember him) was the most effective pitcher in the southern association last season, won 18 games and lost only nine. Old Boots will be back in the majors one of these days.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Elliott Chaze, Lake Charles (La.) American-Press: "Reason Davey O'Brien is quitting football to become a G-man is because he figures any guy capable of finding a pass receiver with the Philadelphia Eagles is wasting his time."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Well, if Mr. Snavely was waving 'em Saturday, he must have been doing it in the opposite direction, wot?

JUDGE KENESAW MOUNTAIN LANDIS 74 YEARS OLD

CHICAGO —(INS)— Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the high commissioner of baseball, attained a full 74 years of age today. "Attained" is one of the strongest words permissible under the circumstances because the judge makes a habit of ignoring birthdays.

Once, when a group of reporters was admitted to his office on his birthday, he wanted to know what all the fuss was about. Informed, he snorted: "I feel bully. That's all you need—and don't go getting all tied up in vital statistics."

Bears And Redskins Likely To Meet For Pro Grid Title

By TOM SILER

CHICAGO—(AP)—Barring upset, the Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins will play for the national professional football championship next month in the nation's capital.

Each needs one victory to clinch a playoff berth, unless their closest pursuers lose a game.

The Bears warmed up yesterday with a track meet against Cleveland, winning 47 to 25. The Rams pushed across an early touchdown, but Chicago retaliated with four touchdowns and a field goal before Cleveland reached paydirt again.

A crowd of 46,439 was in New York's polo grounds to see the Giants hand the Redskins a 21 to 7 beating. The Giants scored twice in the first period and again in the fourth on Tuffy Leemans' 36-yard dash. Sammy Baugh tossed to Ed Justice for the Redskins' tally in the third.

Baugh ran his pass completions for the season to 106, tying the league mark set a year ago by Parker Hall of Cleveland. He also broke Philadelphia Davey O'Brien's record for season's yardage by passes, running his aggregate to 1,321 against the Giants.

Green Bay ran up a 50 to 7 decision on Detroit, largest total scored by the Packers in 21 years of league play. Brooklyn came from behind to defeat the Chicago Cards 14-9.

Rain resulted in the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh game being postponed probably until Thursday. There were no American league games.

STILL CELEBRATING 20-0 WIN OVER NOTRE DAME

EVANSTON, Ill. — (INS) — Parades, dances, pep meetings and other forms of fun took the place of classes at Northwestern university today as the school celebrated its 20-0 football victory over Notre Dame Saturday.

The Wildcats' triumph over the Fighting Irish was their first in five years and only the third in the 51 years of gridiron rivalry between the schools.

NBA Lightweight Champ Ready

National Boxing association lightweight champion, Sammy Angott, has tapered off training for his "title" bout tonight with Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia Negro in New York. The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds.

SPORTS NEWS-JOURNAL

Three Big Ten Teams Stack Up With Best

CHICAGO —(AP)— The midwest, like every other section, has its lean years on the gridiron, but this definitely wasn't one of them.

* * *

The western conference alone has three teams which stack up favorably with any in the country by any yardstick. All three —Minnesota's Champions, Michigan and Northwestern — undoubtedly could give and take the best from any other section —such as Stanford, Tennessee, Texas Aggies or Boston College.

Minnesota proved its right to No. 1 ranking Saturday by crawling from under a 13-point first quarter deficit to whip Wisconsin's spirited Badgers, 22 to 13, and complete the season without a loss in eight games.

The Wolverines capped a brilliant campaign with a 40 to 0 slaughter of Ohio State. Tommy Harmon played one of the greatest games of his career, scoring 22 points. He scored three touchdowns, giving him 33 for three years of college play, two more than the immortal Harold "Red" Grange could amass in a similar period at Illinois.

Northwestern thrashed Notre Dame, 20 to 0. Iowa defeated Illinois 18 to 7, and Indiana edged Purdue 3 to 0.

Minnesota, Michigan and Northwestern made almost a clean sweep of honors on the All-Star eleven picked for the Associated Press by the nine coaches.

Michigan's Wolverines were given four first team spots, Northwestern three and Minnesota two.

Minnesota's George Franck came closest to being a unanimous selection. He received 17 of a possible 18 points, and polled votes for first team halfback, fullback and quarterback. Tommy Harmon, the Michigan terror, got 16 points.

End positions went to Ed Frutig, Michigan, and Dave Rankin, Purdue. Big Urban Odson of Minnesota and Alfred Bauman of Northwestern won the tackle spots.

Joe Lokanc, Northwestern, snared one guard berth and Ralph Fritz of Michigan the other. Northwestern's Paul Heimenz was voted the finest center in the league.

Rounding out the backfield were Michigan's stellar blocker and quarterback, Forest Evashevski, and George Paskvan, Wisconsin fullback. Ohio State's Don Scott lost a close point race with Evashevski for the quarterback post.

Win Or Lose, Fans Turn Out To See Bucks Play

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — When it comes to loyalty, you have to hand the palm to Ohio State university's football fans. Or perhaps is isn't loyalty—maybe they just like to see wide-open razzle-dazzle play.

* * *

Anyway, a glance at the 1940 attendance record shows that the "bugs" turn out in force, even for a team that won four and lost four after being labeled the mid-west's best in the pre-season dope.

On the heels of the most disastrous season in more than 10 years, and the worst defeat in 35 (Saturday's 40-0 setback at the hands of Michigan) there's certain to be agitation for somebody's scalp.

Talk to the boys at the crossroads of Ohio (Broad and High streets) and you can get four points of view. Here are the proposals outlined by the fans, still shell-shocked by Tom Harmon's three touchdown runs, his passes for two more, and his quartet of points after touchdown:

1—Get rid of the entire athletic department.

2—Keep Coach Francis A. Schmidt, but fire his assistants and get new ones.

3—Fire Schmidt, but keep his assistants.

4—Don't fire anyone. What's all the shooting about, anyway? Football is just a game!

Regardless of which line of procedure is followed, the chances are the boys and girls will be back in the stadium next season. A total of 392,018 saw the Bucks in action this year, and 300,974 (an average of 60,189) witnessed the five home contests.

Since Schmidt took the helm seven years ago, his teams have played before 2,578,120 in 56 tilts, an average of 46,037, despite small away-from-home crowds as low as 2,500. The tall Texan is pretty close to the 60,000 per game figure for the seven-year span so far as Buckeye stadium games are concerned.

Some of the more level-headed, instead of yelping for someone to be fired, are pointing with pride at Schmidt's record. Of the 56 games played under his tutelage, the Bucks have won 39, lost 16 and tied one.

* * *

In the Big Ten he has won 30, lost nine and tied one, winning the championship outright once, tying for it on another occasion, finishing second three times, fourth once and sixth once. In seven years Ohio has outscored the opposition 1,198 to 329, or almost four to one, although outcounted 113 to 99 in the campaign just completed.

Marshall Star Leads Scorers

Runs Season Total to 162 Points; Harmon Runner-up.

NEW YORK—(AP)—When Jackie Hunt of Marshall college ran for four touchdowns against West Virginia Wesleyan on Turkey Day he did more than set an all-time college scoring record of 27 touchdowns in a season.

He also ran his total of points to 162 and put himself far beyond reach of his closest rival for individual scoring honors in the season drawing to a close. Like Tommy Harmon of Michigan, the runner-up with 117 points, Hunt has played his final game.

* * *

The talented toe of John Kostyo, captain of Wittenberg's Ohio conference and state football champions, enabled him to grab the 1940 Buckeye college scoring lead.

Kostyo's nine touchdowns were equalled by Mickey Mittiga of Kent State but the Lutheran captain also scored 13 points after touchdown for a total of 67, nine more than Mittiga.

Oscar Vitt On Warpath Again

Signs One-Year Contract to Manage Portland Club.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Oscar Vitt, released as manager of the Cleveland Indians, is back on the baseball warpath again, this time as pilot of the Portland club in the Pacific Coast league.

Club President E. J. Schefter announced that the man who piloted Cleveland to second place in the American league last year and then was fired had signed a one-year contract shortly after arriving here from his Oakland, Calif., home last night.

Salary terms were not announced, but Vitt said he was "well satisfied." There was talk the contract called for around $10,000.

Vitt went to Cleveland from the New York Yankees' Newark farm club in 1938. In his three years as manager Cleveland finished third twice and second once.

While the Indians were in the thick of the pennant race this year, several players revolted against him.

Eight Teams To Play

Bellville Opens Defense of Title By Entertaining Lexington Friday.

By CHARLES MARTIN
News-Journal Sports Editor

RICHLAND county basketball league generals began mapping offensive tactics this week as the eight-team circuit prepared to swing into action for the 1940-41 season.

With two additional high schools—Plymouth and Shiloh—in the circuit this season, everything points to a nip-and-tuck race.

Bellville high, under Coach Will Miley, won the championship last season and will open its schedule by entertaining Howard in a non-league tilt at Bellville Tuesday night.

Shiloh, winner of the Twin-Valley league championship for three straight years, is one of the leading threats to the Bluejays' hold on the title.

Another power in the circuit is the Butler high Bulldogs. Mentor Bob Burgett's rangy team, which is led by Jack Wilson, will be in the running until the finish if it can locate the basket.

Butler launches its season Tuesday by playing hosts to Hayesville in a non-league session at Butler. The Bulldogs open their loop season against Ontario at Butler Friday night, and then play their third tilt of the week by invading Madison to face the Rams on Saturday night.

Plymouth lifts the curtain on its season by entertaining North Fairfield in a Twin-Valley league setto Tuesday night, while Shiloh, weakened by the loss of 10 men from the 1939-40 squad, meets North Fairfield Friday night. Plymouth and the Drummer Boys will play one round in the Twin-Valley league this year.

Coach Al Fendrick's Madison quintet starts rolling by traveling to Union for a league tussle Friday night.

The eight-team county league schedule will be published in Tuesday's News-Journal.

PLAY PRACTICE GAME

A team from the Friendly House Senior White Class A. basketball league and a club from the City Class A circuit will tangle in a practice game at the Settlement at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. The City News is the Senior league team and the Club Billiards is from the City loop.

Prepares Report on German Consular Activities In U. S.

DIES GROUP TO FOLLOW UP ITS 'WHITE PAPER'

New Disclosure Comes After Committee Clash With Attorney General.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The Dies committee, an informed source said today, plans to supplement its German "white paper" this week with a special report on the results of investigations into the activities of German consular officials in this country.

The "white paper," issued by the committee last Thursday, charged that evidence pointed to a well-laid program of Nazi propaganda, espionage and planning in this country. Most of the document's references to consular officials were incidental, however.

Word that a supplemental report was in preparation came after a week-end during which Attorney General Jackson and Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) clashed in an exchange of statements over the propriety of parts of last Thursday's "white paper" release.

Jackson disclosed that the federal bureau of investigation had submitted a confidential report to defense officials that "Communist influence" was responsible for the strike in the Vultee Aircraft plant in California. CIO unionists there, however, denied this allegation.

The attorney general charged that the Dies committee "white paper" tended to "disparage and discredit" the work of the FBI and to "undermine the confidence of the American public" in that agency.

He also stated that some of the committee's operations "have the effect of endangering by premature exposure" work done by the FBI.

Dies replied, accusing FBI agents of hampering the work of his committee. He said that although the number of agents had been increased in the past six months, "there have been no convictions based upon espionage and sabotage."

The Texan also asserted that "Jackson's record of encouraging Communist organizations in America would do far more to undermine public confidence" than any actions on Dies' part.

Actor Flies to Hollywood—and Date With Betty Grable.

NEW YORK —(NS)— Whispers of another Hollywood elopement possibility went the rounds here today upon the announcement of actor Victor Mature that he was flying to Hollywood tonight for business and a date with Betty Grable.

All Mature would say was:

"I expect to clean up a few matters on the west coast. Of course, I expect to spend some time with Miss Grable."

ONDOV RECALLS DAYS IN CITY DURING COMMUNITY FUND TALK

Michael Ondov, former Wittenberg college halfback who refused to relinquish a life ambition when crippled by an automobile accident was hitting the line today in support of Community Fund campaigns.

Ondov, the Lakewood youth who suffered a broken back in an accident east of Mansfield in November, 1938, just after he completed his first year at Hamma Divinity school in Springfield, seated in a wheelchair in Cleveland last night, broadcast a radio appeal "to those who have, for those who have not."

Recalling the 18½ months he spent in the Mansfield General hospital as the result of the midnight crash on U. S. route 30 near Hayesville, Ondov said:

"I was sent home either to spend my remaining days in a wheelchair or do what I pleased with this distorted body."

The former footballer, now back at school studying for the ministry, added:

"I spent a couple of weeks at home in despair and mental depression. Every day that I remained at home in a wheelchair, without activity or exercise, meant that my great ambition of service in the ministry was gradually fading and turning to nil."

"But it was not long until the Association for the Crippled and Disabled heard of my condition and lack of funds. Through the Community Fund I was able to receive prescribed treatments.

"Today I am able to get around well enough (on crutches) to continue my studies for the ministry. Words cannot express my thanks, the Community Fund has helped me realize my one ambition, the ministry of the word of God."

Ondov lay in the General hospital with a crushed spinal cord, paralyzed from the waist down, following the accident. After an operation financed by funds raised by the Ohio Synod of Lutheran churches he was able to return to his home and this year went back to college. Although he spoke from a wheelchair last night, he is able today to walk with the aid of crutches and he is looking ahead to the time when he will be able to walk without even the aid of a cane.

THEATERS

Seventh Co-Starring.

Jeannette MacDonald is currently making her seventh co-starring appearance with Nelson Eddy in "Bitter Sweet," showing at the Ohio. Filmed in technicolor and replete with some of the most delightful music yet to reach the screen, the story is an "escape" to realms of romance and music. George Sanders, Ian Hunter, Lynne Carver and Diana Lewis are in the supporting cast. The musical score includes 11 of the original Noel Coward songs.

Spectacular Background.

Filmed against the spectacular backdrop that is Monument Valley in Kayenta, Arizona, 180 miles from the nearest railroad station, the adventure spectacle "Kit Carson," is showing at the Madison. Jon Hall, Lynn Bari, Dana Andrews, Ward Bond and Harold Huber head the cast. Its action filled story unwinds some of the thrilling episodes in the life of the great American adventurer who joined forces with John C. Fremont. Co-feature is "Dancing on a Dime," a musical comedy.

Technicolor Dramas.

Backgrounded against the wild Canadian North woods and done entirely in technicolor, the stirring and romantic epic, "Untamed," co-starring Ray Milland, Patricia Morison and Akim Tamiroff, is playing at the Ritz. It is based on the Sinclair Lewis story "Mantrap." Second attraction is "The Return of Frank James," starring Henry Fonda and an all-star cast.

Outdoor Stories.

Jack London, one of America's greatest writers of robust outdoor action adventure thrills is responsible for the story of "Queen of the Yukon," playing at the Park. Irene Rich and Charles Bickford share stellar honors in this drama of the Alaskan gold-fields. Second feature is "Out West With the Peppers," with Edith Fellows in the lead. This is the third of the popular series of films being made from Margaret Sidney's beloved juvenile classics.

'It All Came True.'

Coming Tuesday to the Majestic are "It All Came True," the screen story written by Louis Bromfield, and starring Ann Sheridan, Jeffrey Lynn and Humphrey Bogart, and "Young Tom Edison," with Mickey Rooney in the lead. This is Mickey's first portrayal of a real life character, and marks his second teaming with Virginia Weidler. Others in the cast are Fay Bainter, George Bancroft and Eugene Pallette.

COURT TURNS DOWN REVIEW

Refuses To Consider Georgia Unemployment Compensation Pogram Decision.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The supreme court refused today to review a decision which Georgia officials contended would "seriously endanger" the successful administration of unemployment compensation programs of 33 states.

The decision, by the Georgia supreme court, barred the state from treating two or more concerns under the same ownership or control as a single unit in determining whether there were sufficient employes to warrant the collection of unemployment compensation assessments.

Before adjourning for two weeks, the tribunal also declined to pass on a circuit court ruling that brokers selling securities owned by others are liable for misrepresentation under the 1933 "Truth in Securities" act.

Among the final opinions today, the court set aside the conviction of a Texas Negro on the ground that his constitutional rights were violated because members of his race had been excluded from grand juries.

The court also authorized the sanitary district of Chicago today to increase temporarily its diversion of water from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence system through the Chicago drainage canal.

BEGIN WORK ON $70,000 WATER MAIN PROJECT

Workmen Start Extension of High Pressure Line To Downtown District.

Construction was started this morning on a $70,000 improvement in the city's water distribution system.

A crew of 45 WPA workers transferred from the West Fourth street paving project began work on a new high capacity main, an extension of a 16-inch line laid two years ago on Cook road and Lexington avenue.

Scheduled to be completed in three months, it will be the largest single improvement to be made in the distribution system since the hi-speed line and Woodland elevated tower were built at a cost of $64,000.

The main was extended on Lexington avenue only to Blanche street because of limited funds. The project now under way calls for extending the line to the mercantile district to boost pressures in the area.

Workmen started trenching on Weldon avenue at West Dickson They will move south on Weldon to Crouse, over Crouse to Glessner, east on Glessner to Mulberry and south on Mulberry to Mendota and then east to Lexington to Blanche street where connection with the present line will be made.

The project also calls for construction of a 12-inch line on Dickson avenue between Weldon and Main streets, but this part of the work is not expected to be started until after the Christmas holidays, since it would require trenching across Mulberry and Walnut streets during the heavy holiday traffic.

Recommended several years ago by Cleveland consultants, construction of the main has been approved by the state department of health and the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The project is financed jointly by the city and WPA, with the city's share estimated at $20,000 for the pipe and the government agency meeting the balance for labor.

SHOWS INCOME GAIN

STEELS PUSHING UP IN TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

Motors, Standard Oil Also In Group Receiving Support; Bonds Are Uneven.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels pushed up in today's stock market and leaders in other departments displayed recovery tendencies.

Getting support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Texas Corp., Standard Oil of N. J., International Paper preferred, Westinghouse, American Can, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak and Goodyear.

Bonds and commodities were a shade uneven.

Market attention was given the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that, despite the strong outlook in this industry, exceptions to the general trend were being encountered.

Noted were figures of the National Lumber Manufacturers association disclosing bookings of new business in this field for the week ended Nov. 16 topped the previous week by 11 per cent and were 40 per cent above the like 1939 period.

RESOLUTION NO. 40-263

By Mr. Kyle:

Declaring it necessary to improve the west side of Linden Road from Maple Street to the center of Inlet No. 9588 by the construction of a sanitary sewer therein.

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio of all Members elected thereto concurring:

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve the west side of Linden Road from Maple Street to the center of Inlet No. 9588 by the construction of a sanitary sewer therein.

SEC. 2.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service be and the same hereby approved.

SEC. 3.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit, all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and all other necessary expenditures.

Sec. 4.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in three annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate borne by the bonds to be issued therefore, provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 5.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 6.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding thereof and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 7.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed Nov. 25, 1940.
Attest: WM. J. BAER, JR.
Clerk of Council.
Signed HOWARD G. MILLER,
President of Council.
Approved W. J. LOCKE,

STABS OIL MAN

Burglar Surprised In Columbus Home, Knifes Discoverer.

COLUMBUS—(AP) A burglar, surprised in a fashionable east side home before dawn today, escaped after stabbing Lewis W. Whitmer, 48, real estate representative for the Pure Oil company.

Whitmer is in Grant hospital with three stab wounds and knife slashes on the neck, side and legs. He is believed to have wounded the intruder with shotgun fire as the man escaped without loot.

months. A club was bombed and there were a number of casualties, some fatal. One bomb killed three persons in a road. There were other casualties in several London districts.

Today's first daylight alarm in London passed without incident, although distant gunfire was heard.

Describe 'Coventry' Attack on Bristol

BERLIN—(U.P.) Nazi informants said today that several hundred German airplanes had "Coventrated" Bristol last night, dropping more than 700,000 pounds of explosives and 10,000 incendiary bombs on that port.

They said that 55 large fires and hundreds of smaller fires had been observed by the German pilots and that a direct hit had been scored on a gasometer, which exploded. Many factories were bombed and warehouses suffered heavy damage, Nazis said.

(Bristol is a city of 400,000. It is 118 miles west of London by rail, at the confluence of the Avon and Frome rivers. It lies eight miles inland from the Bristol channel but is a center of heavy ship traffic.)

Nazis said docks and other industrial objectives were bombed and they claimed that a large amount of Britain's imports recently had been landing at Bristol, which also has the Bristol-Blenheim bomber factory.

Nazis said that in daylight raids yesterday, German planes bombed Gravesend and oil tanks at Portland, as well as several points in London, where fires were set.

Justice Department Starts Check on U. S. Food Prices

LOWER COSTS TO CONSUMER ARE SOUGHT

Inquiry Also Seeks To Obtain Higher Prices For Farmer, Opposes Monopolies.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The justice department made the nation's food supply a subject of investigation today, with the two-fold objective of establishing whether present prices were fair to both consumer and producer.

Evidence existed, the department said, that "the food industries function badly for both consumers and farmers." If such is proven to be the case, lower food costs to consumer and increased farmer income should result.

The avowed purpose of the investigation, announced yesterday, was to eliminate any illegal monopolistic practices which might tend to control prices to consumers.

Paul S. Willis, president of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, said at New York last night that he was confident that "monopolistic practices" would be found "non-existent among the representative members of our industry."

The nationwide food inquiry, launched within a few months of the start of investigation of homebuilding costs, will concentrate attention on prices of bread, milk, meat, fish, cheese, fruits and vegetables, both fresh and canned, the justice department said.

"The food investigation," the department stated, "is regarded as a logical successor to the housing investigation because next to rent food is the largest item of consumer expenditure."

Food processors and distributors, it continued, now receive about 50 or 60 cents of the average dollar which consumers spend for food, whereas between 1913 and 1920 they received only from 40 to 48 cents.

Educators Arrive Today For School Evaluation Work

More than 50 leading Ohio university professors, high school principals, and subject matter specialists are converging on Mansfield late today to begin a three-day evaluation study of Mansfield Senior high school.

Following an informal dinner in the Senior high school cafeteria today at 6:30 p. m., the group will organize into two committees which will make independent evaluations of the equipment and scholastic curriculum at the school.

Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. a banquet will be held in the cafeteria attended by the educators, school officials, parents, and the public interested in the evaluation.

A number of the educators, including Dr. D. H. Eikenberry, of the Ohio State university department of education and chairman in charge of the evaluation, will speak to the gathering on the value of the study.

AFL Tackles Two Controversial Questions

CONVENTION AT NEW ORLEANS IN ITS FINAL WEEK

Racketeer Purge and Curb on Executive Committee Power Due to Stir Fireworks.

(By United Press)

NEW ORLEANS — The American Federation of Labor convention entered its second and final week today, facing floor controversies over efforts to purge AFL unions of racketeers and deprive the executive council of power to suspend recalcitrant unions.

The fireworks will not start until after Sir Walter Citrine, head of the British trades union congress, has addressed the convention today. He will outline labor's cooperation with the Churchill government. The convention this afternoon was to be asked to approve two recommendations of the committee on laws, headed by Daniel J. Tobin, boss of the teamsters union.

One would substitute for the present one cent per capita per month tax on AFL unions and a similar assessment on AFL members, a two-cent per month per capita tax for the period of one year.

The other would transfer from the executive council to a majority vote of the convention, the power to suspend unions, except in cases of dual unionism.

The compromise anti-racketeering resolution of the resolutions committee was not expected to reach the floor until Tuesday.

In the midst of fights involving all three proposals was David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers union. His union broke from the CIO and returned to the AFL on the assurances of William Green, president of the AFL, that the council would recommend that the convention remove the per capita assessment, which is a method of raising funds to fight the CIO and take from the council the power to suspend recalcitrant unions.

Tobin's committee limited the revised per capita tax proposal to one year and Dubinsky was satisfied. But he protested vigorously against the committee's plan to let the council keep power to suspend unions engaged in dual unionism and said he would take the issue to the floor. Nor was he satisfied with the compromise anti-racketeering resolution but said, with a shrug of his shoulders, that it "is the best I can get now."

Police had another parking meter on their hands at headquarters today. It was the third machine to be ripped from the sidewalk during the four days the devices have been in operation. The latest one came loose from the walk in front of the Maxwell store on North Walnut street Saturday afternoon when it was accidentally bumped. Officers said the undamaged meter was unsecurely fastened to the walk over the store basement.

Postmaster H. E. Homberger was still puzzling today over a communication he received from a man in New Jersey last week via postcard. The man wrote Homberger that he was in the market for a farm of from two to ten "arces" and would appricate it if Homberger would look for a farm anywhere between here and Detroit. What makes it more complicating to Homberger is that he never heard of the man before and can't figure out why the man picked on him to look for his farm.

The question asked oftener than any other of the county's three draft boards is: "When will I be called for service." And that's about the only question the boards can't answer. There will be no more men called until after Jan. 2, but during January the county probably will be asked to send 80 or 90 men. The boards can't tell now how many men they will have to call in for examinations to get that quota, but the indications are that it will be 250 or 300. There is little likelihood, however, that men with order numbers above 1,000 will have to worry about going to camp before next summer, it was explained.

RECHECK COSTS SEAT IN SENATE

Akron Republican Loses Post, Figures Show; Indications Point To Recount.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Republicans' thin majority in the Ohio senate was reduced further today as a recheck indicated Will R. Price, veteran Akron legislator, lost his senate post to Attorney Murray S. Parker, Democrat.

Reports to the secretary of state's office gave Parker a 289 vote margin over Price, but there were indications that a recount would be made. The senatorial district embraces Summit, Portage, Geauga, Lake and Ashtabula counties.

Price's defeat would leave Republicans with 19 of the 36 senatorial seats for 1941-42, a working majority of only two members. This margin is insufficient to control emergency legislation as was done by the the Republicans in the present legislature.

Secretary of State George M. Neffner was asked by Walter J. Coyle of Akron to order a recount of all Summit county in connection with the Ray Potts-Stanley Yale race for county commissioner. Yale won on the basis of unofficial returns.

Neffner replied that he had no authority to order a complete recount.

SEES SUFFICIENT REVENUE TO MEET $40 PENSION TOP JAN. 1

COLUMBUS—Increases in state revenues have led Gov. John W. Bricker to express the belief that sufficient money will be available to meet old age pension increases provided by the $40 a month maximum after Jan. 1.

What the increases will total has not yet been determined, but estimates of $2,500,00 annually have been made by the pension department, although rolls have increased from 126,000 to 130,000 persons since then. The federal government will match state grants for a total of $5,000,000.

Not all pensioners will receive the maximum. Only those whose "needs" call for the $40 allowance would receive it.

Finance director H. D. Defenbacher is receiving budget requests from the various state departments. All are under instructions to submit them by Dec. 1 so he can draft the temporary six months budget for submission to the legislature when it convenes Jan. 6.

The largest request so far came from the public employes retirement system which asked $2,615,820 for the next two years, an increase of almost $2,000,000 over its allotment two years ago.

The increase is sought to make up the state's arrearages in contributions and place the retirement fund on an actuarial basis. Two years ago the public employes sought to have arrearages paid, but the legislature deferred the date until Jan. 1, 1941, and appropriated only $655,219 to finance the system on a pay-as-you-go basis.

SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

Rites for Mrs. Pearl Howarth to be Held Tuesday.

Laff-a-Day

"Have you anything with little fingerprints already in the design?"

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Speaking For Myself.

Christmas shopping is fun anywhere, but I think it's the most exciting in Hollywood and New York. In Hollywood, during the tinsel and holly-berry season, the shopping crowds bump into Myrna Loy and Joan Bennett and Bette Davis in the store aisles; here in the days before Santa Claus the shops are filled with Gertie Lawrence and Lily Pons and Lynn Fontanne, all in their minks with their hands full of lists and that "what-shall-I-get-for Isabel?" look in their eyes . . .

There's no thrill like the one you get when you step into a phone booth and find a left-over nickel in the coin return slot. It makes me feel like a combination sweepstakes winner and Madame Raffles . . .

I think it's very gay that Broadway has so many musical shows, but I wish some producer would hit the boards with a good drama like "Children's Hour" or "The Little Foxes" or "Ethan Frome."

I wish some theater would revive old films with Garbo and Gilbert, or Vilma Banky and Rod LeRocque. Those oldies are so much fun.

Hope Hampton has the most unusual dog I've ever seen. It is white, silky, small enough to put into a milk bottle, and it sings. She sings an operatic phrase to it, and it sings back—in key! When it (Fifi is its name, but I call it "It") is in really good voice, it can sustain a note longer than John Charles Thomas . . .

I can remember back to the old days when night club owners with girl shows wouldn't let the chorines go out with the musicians. Any chorus girl caught dating with a sax player was subject to fine, layoffs, or even the gate, and while many a beauty could have been observed infringing this rule at Lindy's of a 4 a. m., it was considered risky business.

Now, there is little chance of a chorus girl being caught with a trombone tooter—because it seems all the trombone tooters are going out with society girls!

If I were an actress I'd never trust opening night applause. It has been my premiere experience that sometimes the biggest flops get the most curtain calls.

This wasn't true of "Twelfth Night," of course. That got so many curtain calls I lost count, and next day the reviews matched. I think audiences at Maurice Evans plays always applaud and applaud, not only for his performance, which certainly deserves it, but because they know, if they are old Evans fans, that Mr. Evans invariably has a neat speech ready, and they don't want to be cheated out of it.

I liked his footlight comment at "Twelfth Night." He said: "It is always unwise to count your chicken before it comes out of the egg, and especially in this season of the year, when it might turn out to be a turkey."

I can't help wondering what has happened to Elaine Barrie. Surely this unprecedented lull must be the prelude to an unprecedented tornado . . .

It looks as though Victor Mature, the cave man of "One Million Years B. C.," is trying to run up the reputation of being the celluloids' most indefatigable beau. From the column reports, he's taken out every girl in Hollywood from Edna May Oliver to Shirley Temple . . .

I should think Ted Steele, who sings, acts, novachords and looks like a collegian, would be a good bet for a Broadway musical comedy . . . People who continue to wear campaign buttons after the election is over bore me very much . . . I think Monty Wooley looks like the late King Edward VII of England.

* * *

My idea of a swell singing combination is Bing Crosby and Connie Boswell on that Thursday night air show . . .

Fefe's Monte Carlo is beginning to sound like Geneva when the League of Nations was in convention. You hear a different language at every table, and a different title on every refugee . . .

I still think it's unpatriotic to hiss the president in newsreel houses, no matter how much the hissers disapprove of him. I think it's unsportsmanlike to hiss anyone, and I wish some newsreel houses would flash a sign on the screen saying: "Please do not hiss. If you don't like the people whose pictures come on the screen, you can refrain from applauding." . . .

I'd like to see Madeleine Carroll singing a scat song.

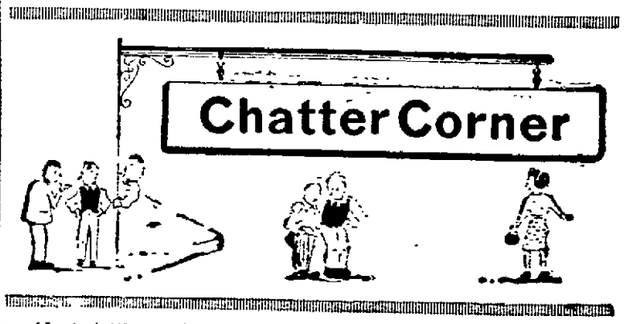
I'd like to see a revival of George S. Kaufman's "First Lady." The plot is so hilariously reminiscent of the Clare Boothe-Dorothy Thompson hair pulling . . . Barney Gallant's new campaign for his village boite is cute. He's sending out postcards marked "personal."

Among the other things I'd like to see around Broadway are: Broadway Rose dancing with Prince Serge Obolensky in El Morocco, Sheila Barrett imitating Bonnie Baker, and the powder room girl at the Stork club writing a book . . .

I envy girls with faces that can be made up to look Oriental—like Myrna Loy, Helen Bennett, and 'Tokio" Payne . . . I like the new song Jimmy Van Heusen has writen for "Love Thy Neighbor." It's tagged, "Dearest, Darest I?"

I think Harriet Hilliard and Ozzie Nelson are Broadways current cutest couple . . . I love to see debutantes tossing pennies into the wishing well at LaConga. I wonder what they wish for—a new hair-do, a picture on Cholly Knickerbocker's page, or a non-conscripted beau?

One of my favorite Fifth Avenue shops has sent me a brochure of Christmas gift ideas, and in looking through it I came upon something that I am sure will help Lucius Beebe with his shopping. It is something he can give to some lady friend who likes to lounge. It is, in fact, a chaise longue cover, with pillow to match. Price, $1200.



(Just jottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

Carl Willsey and son Harvey driving to the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company together. . . . Dale Roth of Lumbermens stopping off for a coke before going home in the evening. . . . Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shaw back from the Ohio State-Michigan Homecoming celebration in Columbus Saturday.

. . . Bob Tawse home from Denison for a few days and catching up on his flying at the municipal airport. . . . James Young working on plans for the Central Ohio Traffic club's annual Christmas party.

Charlie McKinley (clerk of courts office) headed out Park avenue west on his daily walk home. . . . Mrs. R. F. Cox coming out of a theater. . . Johnnie Workman catching a ride to work. . . . Dr. and Mrs. Riley E. Frush up from Lexington for dinner with friends at the Fairway.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Herr entertaining 35 relatives and friends in honor of recently-married Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zeitler who were given many presents for their new Coolridge Heights home. . . .

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crum, who are now sojourning at San Diego, Cal., notified friends here that they had just experienced the hottest Nov. 15 recorded since 1895. The Crum's have just completed a 2700 mile automobile trip with stop-offs at interesting western and southern points. They'll remain until summer.

broken nose. Hospital attaches reported his condition as "good" today.

Robert B. Davis of Cleveland, driver of the vehicle which struck Pittenger, told city police that he did not see Pittenger as he walked in front of the automobile. Davis was not held by police following the accident.

Mrs. Robert Zschau of Ft. Thomas, Ky., received head and leg injuries shortly after noon Sunday when the car in which she was riding with her husband collided with one driven by Robert Lybarger of Shelby at an intersection on the Ganges-Amoy road, seven miles north of Mansfield. Mrs. Zschau was treated by a physician.

Mrs. Daisy Wetzel, 125 Washington avenue, and Mrs Cora Pembrook of Utica, riding in the car with the Zschaus, escaped injury.

The ten who met death in Ohio in traffic accidents yesterday included. Edwin Kinchen, 28, and Gail E Carter, 23, killed when an automobile in which they were riding plunged into a ditch north of Bellefontaine. J. W. Ross driver of the machine, was taken before Mayor Ellis McFarlnad at Kenton and fined $200 on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Other fatalities included·

GREEK FORCES PUSH PURSUIT

Drive Italians From Pogradec, Continue To Harass Fleeing Enemy.

Crack squardons of British airmen were among the troops landed here in fulfilment of Britain's pledge to lend Greece all possible aid.

Chief of the towns captured in the newest forward surge by the Greeks was Pogradec. on the southern shore of Lake Orchrid about 25 miles north of fallen Koritza.

In addition the Greeks occupied Moscopolis and Brenebo in the Koritza sector and accomplished virtual destruction of a complete Fascist division plus other elements—a total of some 22,000 men.

The entire eastern wing of the Italian line was reported in danger of "annihilation"

(Editor's Note: A Belgrade dispatch said the Greeks had entered the outskirts of Argyrocastro, where they were locked in deadly house-to-house fighting with Italian defenders.)

Advance Greek units entered Pogradec early in the afternoon, passing through the town and then pressing the Italians along a main road leading to the stronghold of Elbasan.

It was stated in military dispatches that an entire Italian division had been broken up and was "fleeing in disorder." Reports from Koritza said three other Fascist battalions had been scattered and were being "chased by Greek cavalry."

is a distinct possibility, if not a probability."

Charging that there has been "something wrong" at Ohio State for several seasons, Russ Needham, sports writer for the Columbus Dispatch, predicted that "steps to rectify the situation will be taken without the least doubt."

Jack Keller, a graduate of Ohio State and former Buckeye track star now on the sports staff at the Columbus Citizen, declared in a signed article that "there was friction between the coaching staff and the team at times"

"Frankly," Keller wrote, "if it hadn't been for the work of Capt. Jim Langhurst and Claude White as 'peace makers' during the season, Ohio State's name would have been spread from coast to coast as a fitting running mate of the 1940 Cleveland Indians.

"Time and time again boys left the team only to be coaxed back by the two seniors. Some were never coaxed back—but happened to be third stringers. Insubordination? Yes, it'd have to be called that '

John Dietrich, senior sports editor of the Ohio State Lantern, daily newspaper published on the university campus, stated in a column to appear late today that "Coach Schmidt has lacked strong assistant coaching help during his stay at Ohio State."

Dietrich said that "Schmidt lacks ability to inspire the team and to hold the squad together as a unit." He also hinted at team dissension.

The athletic board of control at the university refused to be questioned on the matter but was quoted as saying there would be no action in the near future concerning either the hiring or firing of coaches

Schmidt came to Ohio State in 1934 from Texas Christian His record in seven years shows 39 wins, 16 losses and one tie. The majority of the losses have been outside the conference including two defeates by Cornell, Notre Dame, Southern California. Michigan defeated the Bucks in 1938 by an 18-0 score, and last year, 21-14.

Schmidt Denies He's Looking for New Job

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Coach Francis A. Schmidt of Ohio State, whose gridders lost a 40 to 0 decision to Michigan Saturday, said today he was not considering resigning

"I'm still Ohio State's football coach, and until Mr. St. John (Athletic Drector L. W. St. John) tells me they don't want me around here any more, I'm not going to look for another job," Schmidt declared.

Schmidt blamed poor breaks for the losses to Minnesota and Northwestern. He also said there was too much pre-season publicity build-up "that we knew we could not live up to," and that "we didn't get the co-operation we might have from some places, and we had a very tough schedule."

Congress Forced To Move To New Home

MAP NEW TAX PLAN AT MEET

County Officials Will Offer Proposals on Collection and Distribution.

A number of Richland county officials will go to Columbus Dec 3 to join officials from other counties in the state in mapping proposals for speedier and more economic means of collecting taxes and distributing tax funds, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today.

The proposals will be drawn up and submitted as resolutions at the annual meeting of the state auditors' and treasurers' association Meeting with the groups will be the legislative committee of the county commissioners' association of which C. L. Mitchell, Richland county commissioner, is a member.

The county officials, Wolfe said, will ask the state legislature to amend existing laws to permit county commissioners more leeway in allocating state funds now ear-marked for specific purposes, and to speed up the collection of delinquent taxes by reducing the period of time between the filing of suits against property owners and the actual sale of the property for taxes.

Other requests are expected to deal with the collection of fees charged by county departments for performing special services and the use of such fees by the county.

The request to the legislature is also expected to seek a larger percentage of relief funds from the state so the counties can use more of their own money for operating purposes.

Officials expected to attend the meetings from Mansfield include Wolfe, Deputy Auditor Arthur Beck, Treasurer John E. Kolb, County Commissioner Mitchell and Harry Koch, deputy county sealer of weights and measures who works out of the auditor's office.

Search 4,800 Employes Of Navy Yard After Bomb Scare

BULLETIN

BOSTON—(UP)—A man whose name was withheld told Boston navy yard authorities that a ship at the yard would be blown up by a time bomb at 2:30 p. m. (EST) today.

(By International News Service)

BOSTON — More than 4,800 workmen were halted and searched when they reported at Boston navy yard today as authorities sought to frustrate a purported scheme to smuggle "a time bomb or dynamite" into the yard which is operating at top speed an national defense

So far as could be determined, no infernal machine or explosive was found in the search of workers and their autos.

Capt. Bernard Graham, night police superintendent of Boston, quoted a navy yard official as saying·

"Information has been received from a most authoritative source that an attempt at 7 a. m. would be made by a navy yard workman to bring in a time bomb or a quantity of dynamite when he went to work."

Police said it was believed the explosive might be concealed in a lunch box

Capt Graham sent a special detail of 75 policemen to the yard.

A detachment of marines was pressed into inspection of workers' cars, while regular guards searched the clothing and lunch boxes of employes.

Long queues of workers, delayed by the search, stood in the streets outside the yard, and curious night-shift workers added to the crowds at the gates.

Raider Cruises Near U. S. Neutrality Zone

NEW YORK —(AP)— Somewhere in West Indian waters a belligerent raider cruised today after bringing the war at sea to the outskirts of the Pan-American neutrality zone.

At a point aobut 500 miles northeast of Puerto Rico, the raider invaded a crossroads of Great Britain's sea lanes yesterday and shelled the 9,430-ton British freighter Port Hobart.

The attack was made about 75 miles outside the neutrality belt at a point where British ships from South America converge with those from the Panama Canal.

Two brief messages from the victim, picked up here by Mackay radio 25 minutes apart, said first that the Port Hobart had sighted "a suspicious vessel" and then that she was "being shelled by raider"

The fate of the freighter and the identity of its attacker was then blanketed in silence.

And, then again, it's much easier to feel non-belligerent than neutral.

Youthful hitch-hikers may find it difficult to rid themselves of the idea that they are entitled to a free ride.

It has only recently been discovered that raspberries are full of vitamins—and everybody had been mistaking them for seeds.

Requisites To Labor Unity

NOW that John L. Lewis has made good his campaign pledge to resign as president of the CIO—in event of Roosevelt's re-election—a matter of much conjecture is whether a change in CIO leadership will make possible a unification of the ranks of organized labor.

All estimates of Philip Murray, who succeeds Lewis as president of the Congress of Industrial Organization, credit him with temperamental qualifications, as a conciliator, which are sadly lacking in the Lewis makeup.

If this turns out to be the case, and if the CIO divorces itself from the Communistic influences which have been evidenced in its activities in some sections of the country, the labor peace so essential to national progress may eventually be brought about.

A discouraging note was sounded, however, at the Atlantic City convention when a resolution was passed condemning special legislation to deport Harry Bridges, west coast agitator, as an undesirable alien. If it is the idea that the CIO, or any other minority group, is to be permitted to dictate legislative or court action, then the hoped-for unity seems far removed, nor can public sympathy with such an attitude be anticipated.

Such procedure as that which tied up defense production by a strike in a west coast aircraft plant last week is also detrimental to the cause of organized labor and may easily lead to more drastic legislation against strikes in defense industries than would ordinarily be required to combat such a situation, in which selfish interests are placed above the general welfare.

What should be clearly understood by everyone concerned is that the national defense program is too important to permit delays due to strikes and that unless effective methods of arbitration can be developed to settle disputes the federal government will be compelled to take drastic action.

America must produce—for defense, and to meet peacetime requirements. This nation must be made strong and impregnable. Nothing can be permitted to stall, or to slow-up, the industrial machine. Neither labor nor management, if they understand the feeling of the public on this subject, will make unreasonable demands upon the other.

War Prisoners In Germany

THE United States Embassy in Berlin has been asked to make representations to the German government as to living conditions of British prisoners of war in Germany. Sir Anthony Eden has been telling the house of commons that he is dissatisfied with the treatment of British prisoners by the Nazis. Many of them, he said, lacked winter clothing.

The food, of course, is none too good at best in Germany, and while, by international agreement, prisoners of war are supposed to be fed and cared for exactly as well as the soldiers of the country in which they are held, agreements do not seem to mean much to Hitler.

German prisoners in Canada, of which there are already several thousands, are said to have stuffed themselves wherever they could on their way to camp, unable to believe that the good, plain Canadian food with plenty of bread and butter could continue. Those who escaped into the rocks, brambles and poison ivy of the Canadian wilderness were glad to get back to warm baths and shaves and solid breakfast.

These German prisoners are now undoubtedly clad in wool as warm as that of the soldiers of Canada. Bacon and eggs, plenty of good, hot porridge with milk, butter and jam on their bread are parts of the daily fare. Clean and sanitary surroundings are taken for granted.

But the British prisoners in Germany? That's quite a different story.

Toys That Develop Hands and Brain

AMERICAN ingenuity finds expression in no more delightful way than in the making of toys for children. Electric stoves which really cook, animals which do tricks when wound up, dolls which do things they shouldn't, as well as those they should, all become parts of a joyful Christmas. The electric train which the grown-ups enjoy so much is but one of a myriad mechanical toys growing out of our industrial civilization.

All of these things have their place, and they are not to be dismissed with a wave of the hand. Children not only enjoy them but they learn from them. But the toys which have some creative possibilities for their owners are best. The set from which a child can build bridges and derricks combines well with the train. So do the blocks which can be made to serve them both. The building of a city which need not be taken down and put away at night is a project worth any child's endeavor.

For the young child the simple toys by which he learns to use his hands are the great means of education. The possibilities of simple carpentry can hardly be overestimated. Actual use and development of the muscles of the hands is extremely valuable. Character is developed by trying and failing and trying again till success crowns effort.

America's Increasing Millions

ACCORDING to [illegible] bureau the total population of the United States, its territories and possessions is 150,362,826. That is quite a lot of people, although not so many as in Russia, China or India.

The number is small enough so as to make quite unnecessary any grabbing of lebensraum anywhere. It is not too large a number for solution of all our social and economic problems once we really get at them. Education and health should be possible for most of the people as individuals. Represented among them are extensive untapped resources of art, literature, music, science and good government.

We know today that a huge population is proof of superiority in nothing but numbers. Our goal should be to make life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness easy real to our 150 millions in whatever part of this country or its possessions they live, whatever their color, religion or racial origins.

Japan's New Envoy Liked In U. S.

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

TOKYO surprised Washington the other day with news of Admiral Richisaburo Nomura's selection as next Japanese ambassador in the United States. The admiral's quite well known in our national capital and Americans who are acquainted with him very generally like him. Yankee officialdom was looking for the appointment of an envoy we wouldn't find a bit easy to get along with harmoniously.

Admiral Nomura

Not long ago the Jap government fired and called home nearly all of its diplomatic and upper consular representatives throughout the whole of the Pan-Americas. No secret was made of Tokyo's belief that these dismissed emissaries hadn't been hard boiled enough in speaking for Nippon at their various posts, and proposed to fill their jobs with tougher specimens.

Among those relieved of their assignments was Kensuke Horinouchi, for some time Jap ambassador in Washington. Now, Ambassador Horinouchi had been personally on extremely friendly terms with the state department. Relations between our government and the Mikado's, as everybody's aware, have been considerably strained of late, but the ambassador did his best to keep them as pleasant as he could under difficulties. It was taken for granted that his successor would be a mean customer to deal with.

Instead, Admiral Nomura is picked for the berth. Past contacts with him suggest that he'll be at least as easy to get along with as ex-Ambassador Horinouchi was.

Appeasement?

Does the choice of him imply a Jap desire to appease Uncle Sam?

It's too soon to tell yet, but the development's a puzzle.

On the eve of his departure for home, the displaced Japanese diplomat paid a farewell visit to the state department, and it's said that Secretary Hull talked to him mighty plainly. He undoubtedly was polite to the ambassador as an individual, but they say he told him unequivocally just how much Uncle Samuel will put up with from the Mikado, and just what he'll draw the line at.

Did Horinouchi take this confidential message back to Tokyo, and did it throw a scare into the Japs, or make 'em decide to watch their next step, anyway?

At all events, we're not about to get the kind of next ambassador we were expecting—not an ultimative type, but an affable chap, judging from all our previous experiences with him.

And what about the numerous other Pan-American diplomatic and consular jobs that Tokyo shortly will have to be refilling? Will it name tough nuts for these positions, as anticipated, or will it pipe down relative to them also, as it appears to have done in our own case?

We'll begin to ascertain presently.

To a certain extent Ambassador-designate Nomura probably is a compromise between Jap good judgment and Jap militarism.

It always is necessary to distinguish between the two. Civilian Japan isn't difficult to transact international business with. The military cult, in the main, is loco. And its system is to assassinate all civilian statesmen who don't subscribe to whatever it dictates. Naturally the civilians have to be circumspect.

Civilized Militarist.

Now, Ambassador-designate Nomura, as an admiral, is a militarist, but he's an exceptionally civilized sample of one.

It appears to be a good guess that the same civilian element in the Tokyo government hit on him as a tolerably rational type of representative in Washington, with whom, nevertheless, the militarists can't find much fault, since he belongs to their aggregation.

One Motorist's Experience.

Editor News-Journal:

I was one of the 113 motorists who were fined for parking overtime Friday morning.

I parked beside the Walpark building, dropped three pennies in the slot, and pulled the lever. I made three business calls, from five to ten minutes each, and returned to find a tag for overparking. I had no watch, but felt I had not been more than 36 minutes.

I dropped three more pennies in the slot, pulled the lever, went over to the Farmers' bank, and to the police station, where the clerk said he could do nothing but fine me one dollar.

I returned to my car after an absence of not over 15 minutes, and found I was again in "violation."

Not until I read the evening paper, did I know that I should have pulled the lever after each penny.

It seems to me, the police should have given motorists a chance to learn the operation of those new meters, before collecting fines.

I am sure many must have made the same mistake I did.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Words Are Your Slaves.

Words are your slaves, for you they dance
Or sing, they weep or smile.
But when I try to capture them,
They mock me all the while.

Words are like that. For some they such,
Or scream or sound at will
But others, they will not obey,
The simplest dreams fulfill

In what strange power does conquest rest?
And how may mastery
Of words be sought? What road leads on
To word security?

This Is Ohio

OHIO'S geographical position has made it attractive to transients. Lying halfway between the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and the Atlantic seaboard, and contiguous to two large Great Lake cities, the bulk of east-west traffic flows across Ohio.

Nature arranged Ohio's terrain to provide a low level route. Most of the country's main east-west highways and practically all of the east-west trunk line railroads cross the state. The number of navigable rivers and creeks is unusually large.

Of all the states Ohio has been the most traveled and no other possesses better transportation facilities today.

Guard Inauguration Stand After Dynamite Is Found Near Capitol

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Capitol police have kept the matter under wraps, but a half stick of dynamite was found near the entrance of the underground senate garage.

The explosive was wrapped in old newspapers and did not appear to have been "planted." It might have been accidentally dropped or discarded. But what is worrying police authorities is why anyone with dynamite in his possession should be around the Capitol.

One result of the incident has been an intensification of the guard not only of the Capitol but of the platform over the main steps, from which President Roosevelt will deliver his third inaugural address on Jan. 20.

The stand, nearing completion, now is watched continuously day and night by a special police detail. The night shifts, from 4 p. m. to 8 a. m., do nothing but patrol the immediate vicinity of the platform. Starting this week, the watch will be augmented by a round-the-clock detail of firemen, ready with hose and other equipment for any emergency.

The guard of the Capitol has been stepped up to include a daily inspection of the vast structure from the soaring dome to the subterranean basements. Police are under strict orders to report immediately suspicious individuals and articles.

Elephant Hunter.

THE publication of a story that House Democratic Floor Leader John McCormack and his wife, Harriet, former Metropolitan Opera star, once drove several miles to keep a turtle from being run over, has brought them some ribbing from friends.

But Mrs. McCormack had a snappy comeback during a discussion of the 2,500-mile stumping tour she and her husband made during the campaign.

"Did you run over any turtles?" grinned a friend.

"No," shot back Mrs. McCormack, "but we did put the quietus on a lot of elephants."

"Loyal Opposition."

TWO WEEKS have elapsed since Wendell Willkie's post-election broadcast, but Republican leaders still are in the dark as to just who and what he meant by a "loyal opposition."

Privately, they make it clear that he had not consulted them and did not talk for them. This is particularly true of the congressional group, who do not concede the defeated standard bearer the right to tell them what to do and how to do it. They consider themselves the party's elected spokesmen and they are taking orders from no one.

If Willkie meant that the Willkie clubs would constitute the "loyal opposition," this is a subject about which the party chiefs see red.

Few of them have any love for the Willkie clubs. They view the movement coldly as a group of starry-eyed amateurs, who were a constant source of undercover irritation during the campaign and are sure to mean trouble to the regulars in the future.

This feeling has not been lulled by the word reaching party chiefs that certain Willkie club zealots are urging the clubs to turn their attention to "cleaning up organization bad spots."

If, as the regulars fear, the clubs' "loyal opposition" aim is to become a pressure group for the purpose of taking control of the party organization and laying down party policies, there is a bitter war in the offing. The regulars definitely will not submit to this, and with the party machinery firmly in their hands they are in a position to get tough about it.

* * *

Anti-Willkie Regulars.

ONE key factor in the situation that apparently both Willkie and the club leaders have overlooked is that he was not an organization choice at the Philadelphia convention.

Willkie was an outsider and the boys boarded his wagon only when they had to. Also, and equally important, the regulars were forced to play second fiddle in his campaign. He consulted very few of them and left many barked shins by either deliberate or unwitting tactlessness. There are plenty of party leaders who think this had a lot to do with the fact that Willkie's vote trailed the local GOP tickets in practically every state.

Further, there is the matter of 1944. Already a number of possibilities are quietly laying plans for that year—Governor Bricker and Senator-elect Burton of Ohio, Tom Dewey, Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, and others.

The 1944 hopefuls are hardly likely to continue to boost Mr. Willkie. They and their backers are not going to permit, if they can help it, any usurpation of the 1944 accolade by the 1940 lame duck. He had his chance and they want theirs.

So the GOP leaders are laying low, keeping their powder dry and waiting for Willkie's next move. They are prepared to supply plenty of "loyal opposition" to the New Deal—and also to Willkie and the clubs if they try to run the show.

Defense Telephones.

THE National Defense Commission has a way of getting things done in a hurry—when it knows the right people.

When its offices first were being organized, Edward Stettinius, young, hard-working chairman of the United States Steel corporation and now commissioner for raw materials, had trouble with his telephone. The phone system, newly installed, was slow and none too efficient.

Finally Stettinius picked up the receiver and called Walter S. Gifford in New York. Gifford, besides being head of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, had served for years as a director of U. S. Steel, and Stettinius knew him well.

"Walter," said Stettinius, "our telephone service is terrible down here. Can't you do something about it?"

Within about thirty minutes telephone experts from the local Washington office walked in, and Mr. Stettinius has had no complaints to make since.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In a recent poll-questionnaire, this department was asked to vote on its personal preferences for the best actors, singers, announcers, comedians, commentators and programs on the air.

On the off-chance that some of you may be interested in our preferences in other fields, we have broadened the questionnaire to include those novelists, short story writers, biographers, dancers, actors, playwrights, composers and others in public life who have contributed hugely to our enjoyment of living and of laughter. Here they are:

BEST novelist, Sinclair Lewis. . . . In our opinion "Arrowsmith" is the finest novel written in the last 25 years. . . . Best reporters of the Revolutionary war era, John Hyde Preston ("1776"), Kenneth Roberts ("Northwest Passage," etc.) F. Van Wyck Mason ("Three Harbors," "Stars on the Sea") . . . Ablest biographers of great Americans, Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman ("R. E. Lee"), Carl Sandburg ("Lincoln—the Prairie Years" and "Lincoln—the War Years").

Finest living American poet, Steven Vincent Benet ("John Brown's Body") . . . Best writer of short stories dealing with the Civil war period, Capt. John W. Thomason, jr. . . . Most lucid writer on any subject, W. Somerset Maugham. . . . Best authors of sea adventure, Nordhoff and Hall ("The Bounty Triology") . . . Most astonishing "true confession"—Ely Culbertson's autobiography, "The Strange Lives of One Man."

Ablest playwrights, Eugene O'Neill ("Strange Interdule," etc.) and Robert E. Sherwood ("Abe Lincoln in Illinois," "There Shall Be No Night," etc.) . . . Most interesting student, raconteur and writer on the subject of the theater, Alexander Woollcott. . . .

Cleanest musical hit on Broadway, Ed Wynn's "Boys and Girls Together." . . . Raciest hit on Broadway, "Panama Hattie" . . . Oldest musical hit on Broadway, "Cabin in the Sky." . . . Best husband and wife acting team in the theater, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. . . . Best actress on the stage, Helen Hayes. . . . Best women radio singers of serious music, Margaret Speaks and Marian Anderson. . . . Best male singers of serious music, Jan Peerce and Paul Robeson. . . . Best girl singers of popular music, Ginny Simms and Maxine Sullivan. . . . Best male singers of popular music, Jack Leonard, Frank Sinatra, Harry Babbett.

ABLEST arranger, Larry Clinton. . . . Best quiz program, Information Please. . . . Favorite expert from Information Please board of experts, Franklin P. Adams. . . . Best announcer, Ben Grauer. . . . Best comedian, Jack Benny. . . . Man who has done most for popular music in this country, Irving Berlin . . . Best comedy dancers on Broadway, Paul and Grace Hartman . . . Best male dancer, Paul Draper.

Best creators of comedy and farce drama, George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart . . . Best "room shouter" on Broadway, Sophie Tucker . . . Most beloved sports figure, Jack Dempsey. . . . Most finished orator, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. . . .

These are our favorites. It would be a less interesting world if they hadn't come along, wouldn't it?

Health And Diet

Our New Army And Its Health.

—By DR. CLENDENING

AS AN old soldier, and in a position where I heard, during the last war, complaints, entreaties and advice from the families of the enlisted men who fell sick, I wonder just how much trouble is being taken to see that the personnel in charge of medical affairs in our new army is being instructed to cooperate with the boys' families.

I give a case in point, to make it clear. A young man in 1917 gave up a good position and was drafted. He didn't know anything about army regulations, and he was sent to a northern camp where it got cold. He had used up all his requisitions for underwear and he didn't have any heavy underwear. When his wife came to visit him, he asked her to go down town and buy with his own money some heavy underwear because he was cold.

But the sergeant told her the heavy underwear wasn't army regulations and he couldn't wear them, not even way underneath. So—this is a fact—the young man got pneumonia and died. I don't say that the lack of heavy underwear gave him pneumonia, but the wife does. And you'll never get her to believe otherwise. And the things she says about that sergeant would make even a sergeant want to go somewhere and have a good cry.

The Family Doctor.

Sounds like a little thing, and it was, and it could all have been avoided. These boys in camp this winter are going to get sick and the parents and wives and sweethearts, bless them, are going to come down to see them and sometimes they'll want their own home doctors to see them. And bless them for that, too. And let me say to every father and mother and wife, that there's no reason on earth why they shouldn't have their home doctors. I was in charge of a medical service in a large hospital and there never was a time when such a request was made that it wasn't willingly and gladly approved. And sometimes I even suggested it myself. The medical service is going to be good, don't worry about that, but if you feel that way about it, say so.

Partitions As Cold Preventives.

To prevent the colds and pneumonias as much as possible, I hope the construction engineers are making the cantonments so that there will be a partition between every bed. I don't know whether they are or not, but that was the one great sanitary lesson it seems to me we learned from the last war. With men coming from all parts of the country and carrying their own particular germs, a cough starting in an open barracks can run like wildfire unless some precautions are taken.
